5. Doc-07-02 Assessment Plan

D. Darrow, Chairperson of the Academic Policies Committee, introduced the document. It was sent to the Academic Senate by the Assessment Committee and Office of the Provost. It is presented for legislative concurrence. Academic Policies considered the document and discussed it with Associate Provost Untener. The Committee recommends approval. They believe that the plan will streamline the assessment process by taking advantage of assessment that is done for accreditation purposes in various units and by encouraging units to focus on a limited number of goals each year, rather than focusing on all goals every year. There will be emphasis on the response to assessment information and actions taken. The Committee notes that the plan makes use of learning outcomes from Habits of Inquiry and Reflection. These are part of a larger Senate process that has not concluded, and these goals may change. If they do, the goals in the assessment plan will be changed. It was noted that not every program would be expected to meet all seven learning outcomes.

The Academic Senate voted using legislative concurrence as set out in Article II. B.

the . It is presented for legislative concurrence. The Committee recommends approval. The process also outlines a transcribing process that corresponds to best practices in the field. The Committee is convinced that the guidelines will ensure academic integrity for certificate programs.

The Academic Senate voted using legislative concurrence as set out in Article II. B. 2. of the Constitution of the Academic Senate. The vote was 27 for, 0 against, with no abstentions.

7. Committee Reports:

Faculty Affairs Committee: G. Doyle reported for the Faculty Affairs Committee. The Committee presented a Post-tenure Review philosophy to the Academic Senate on October 26, 2007, which suggests a peer consultation for tenured faculty members, aligned with the sabbatical schedule, every 6 to 7 years. Several senators had serious reservations concerning a post-tenure review policy. The Committee has discussed the reservations and believes it is necessary to pursue a Peer Consultation Policy for the following reasons.

- There is already a Peer Evaluation System "on the books," approved by the faculty in April 1976. The purpose of the Committee's work is to develop an implementation plan for this policy that has some uniformity across departments.
- The Board of Trustees has been asking the administration for several years to implement a Post-tenure Review procedure. The administration feels it is best that the Academic Senate develop this procedure. The Committee believes that the faculty, represented by the Academic Senate, should develop the philosophy and implementation of this policy.
- There are government agencies that are using post-tenure review systems to compare state universities. While UD is not presently obligated to comply with these agencies, it is a measure that can be used. It is also a measure that parents may use to compare UD to state universities.
- As professionals we have an obligation to consult with each other to review accomplishments and to contribute to the enhancement of the future careers of our colleagues.
- The post-tenure review will demonstrate faculty accountability.

The goal of the Committee is to develop a Peer Consultation that is meaningful, developmental, and will minimize the work load on the faculty.

Academic Policies Committee: D. Darrow reported for the Academic Policies Committee. In addition to the two documents considered at this meeting, the Committee has received reports from D. Pair, chairperson of the sub-committee charged with working on curricular recommendations. The sub-committee is now called the Sub-Committee on a Common Academic Program. While the committee will not begin meeting until the Winter semester, they have gathered a list of on-going initiatives related to curriculum. They also recognize the need to consult widely with members of the University community once they do begin meeting.

Student Academic Policies Committee: A. Fist reported for Student Academic Policies. They have been discussing the form used for student evaluation of courses and faculty. G. Doyle has proposed a revised and simplified form that makes much more use of written response. They recognize a need to educate students, especially in their first year, to the use and importance of student responses.

Executive Committee: D. Biers reported for the Executive Committee. Playing Christmas music with his tie, he suggested that members of the Academic Senate read the minutes of the Executive committee as posted on the Senate website.

8. F. Pestello thanked members of the Academic Senate for their work this year, especially on the Tenure and Promotion Policy.

9. Adjournment: Moved and seconded, the meeting adjourned at 3:23 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

Patricia A. Johnson
