Biography of Richard P. Benedum

Richard P. Benedum is professor emeritus of music at the University of Dayton. He joined the faculty of the University of Dayton Performing and Visual Arts Department in 1973 and taught for over 30 years. He was twice chair of the Music Department (1980-1988 and 1996-2001) and held the endowed Alumni Chair in the Humanities from 2001-2005. He founded and organized UD's First Tuesday Lecture Series. He often performed as organist at University of Dayton commencements.

Dr. Benedum received a bachelor's degree from Concordia Teachers College in 1966 and a doctoral degree in organ performance from the University of Oregon, where he studied with John Hamilton, in 1972. He subsequently studied organ and conducting with Helmuth Rilling in Stuttgart, Germany, and musicology with Christoph Wolff at Harvard. His research interests include compositional process in Bach's organ works, the significance and patterns of articulation marks in Bach's autograph manuscripts, and the operas and early biographical studies of Mozart. He has conducted all the major oratorios and numerous cantatas of Bach, as well as other major works from the seventeenth to the twentieth century.

Over his career, Dr. Benedum has received more than 250 grants for performances, workshops and symposia, and research, totaling nearly $3 million. Since 1990, he has directed over a dozen National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) summer seminars and institutes in Vienna, Austria, instructing teachers on the music of Mozart. He has also directed numerous interdisciplinary mini-institutes for teachers on operas, especially by Mozart, in Ohio and Florida, supported with NEH and Ohio Humanities Council funding. In the early 1990s, he wrote and produced "Mozart: His Music and His Letters," a six-part series of programs for National Public Radio broadcast by approximately 150 stations across the U.S. He has been a review panel member for the NEH four times and has been a consultant for the Ohio Arts Council. In 2000, he was invited to join the Speakers Bureau of the Ohio Humanities Council and in 2003 he joined the Council's Board.

Dr. Benedum is equally as active in his local community. He is an accomplished organ recitalist and church musician. Before his retirement, he was the former organist and choirmaster for St. George's Church in Dayton. He is the founder and former music director of the professional Dayton Bach Society chorus and a former trustee for the Kettering Children's Choir. For thirty years he wrote the program notes for the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra (1976-2006). He now resides in Sarasota, Florida, and is organist and choirmaster for Christ Church in Bradenton, Florida, and co-artistic director of the Sarasota-Manatee Bach Festival. He has been appointed to the Florida Humanities Council's Directory of Humanities Professionals.

For his excellence in teaching and his dedication to the music profession, Dr. Benedum has received the following awards:

- Amicus Musicae Award, University of Dayton, 2009
- Outstanding Alumnus, University of Oregon School of Music, 2009
- Vocal Arts Resource Network of Ohio Ovation Award, 2001
- University of Dayton Alumni Award for Teaching, 1998
- Culture Works Opus Award (for outstanding arts educator in greater Dayton), 1996

Ohioana Library Association Music Citation, 1995
College of Arts and Sciences Award for Teaching, 1994

Scope and Content

The Richard P. Benedum papers highlight Dr. Benedum's teaching career, prolific grant-writing, and the sponsored programming that he organized and directed during the course of his career at the University of Dayton. His contributions to the UD Music Department and the Dayton arts community are well documented.

The subject files in series one include personal faculty files spanning 1974-1999, containing correspondence, news clippings, class lists, teaching evaluations, and other materials. The series also contains grant proposals, personal writings, and files from the University of Dayton's Organ Recital Series and Arts Series and Dr. Benedum's National Endowment for the Humanities summer seminars and institutes.

Dr. Benedum's professional activities outside the University are also documented through Ohio Music Education Association, Ohio Music Teachers Association, and Dayton Arts/Humanities Festival files. The Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra programs (1976-2006) containing program notes that Dr. Benedum wrote comprise series two.

Arrangement

The Richard P. Benedum papers are arranged into two series.

Series 1: Subject files

Series 2: Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra programs
