

12-19-1990

Visual Art an Experience, Not an Object, Says Artist

Follow this and additional works at: http://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls

Recommended Citation

"Visual Art an Experience, Not an Object, Says Artist" (1990). News Releases. Paper 7281.
http://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls/7281

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marketing and Communications at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in News Releases by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlengen1@udayton.edu.

75A

The University of Dayton

News Release

Dec. 19, 1990
Contact: Pam Huber

VISUAL ART AN EXPERIENCE, NOT AN OBJECT, SAYS ARTIST

DAYTON, Ohio -- An exhibition of the installation artwork of Thomas Macaulay will be shown Jan. 9-30 in the University of Dayton Rike Center Art Gallery. Macaulay will lecture on his work at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 9, in the Rike Center Room 206. Admission to both the exhibit and lecture is free and open to the public.

"My pieces incorporate existing pedestals, platforms and portable walls in the transformation of a gallery from a familiar space in which to view discrete objects, into a total environment within which ordinary aspects of the space are used to promote a heightened awareness in the audience," Macaulay explains.

A professor in the department of art and art history at Wright State University, Macaulay has traveled throughout the world studying art and architecture. His installation works have been exhibited in museums, commercial galleries, alternative spaces and university galleries. Macaulay also has received several fellowships.

The lecture will be followed by a reception at 8 p.m. in the Rike Center Gallery. The reception is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays, and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.