1-24-2018

Program: Keynote Address, Author Imbolo Mbue

Misty Thomas-Trout
University of Dayton, mthomastrout1@udayton.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/global_voices

Part of the Arts and Humanities Commons, Higher Education Commons, and the International and Comparative Education Commons

eCommons Citation
https://ecommons.udayton.edu/global_voices/1

This Promotional material is brought to you for free and open access by the Alumni Chair in the Humanities at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Proceedings: Global Voices on the University of Dayton Campus by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlangen1@udayton.edu.
Imbolo Mbue is the author of Behold the Dreamers, a 2017 Oprah's Book Club pick and winner of the PEN/Faulkner Award.

Behold the Dreamers tells the story of Jende Jonga, a Cameroonian immigrant living in Harlem who lands a job as a chauffeur for Clark Edwards, a senior executive at Lehman Brothers, in the fall of 2007. Jende hopes the new job will enable him, his adored wife, Neni, and his young son, to live a better life in America. When Neni is hired as a household help by Clark's wife, their situation only improves.

But in the course of their work, Jende and Neni begin to witness infidelities, skirmishes, and family secrets. Desperate to shield the fragile life they've built in New York, the Jongas protect their employers, even when the wealthy couple's secrets begin to drive a wedge between Jende and Neni. Then, with the 2008 collapse of Lehman Brothers, all four lives are dramatically upended, and Jende and Neni are forced to make an impossible choice.

Mbue's book is informed by her experience of being an immigrant and the experiences of the many immigrants that she knows. Like Jende and Neni, she grew up in Limbe, Cameroon before immigrating to the U.S.

Mbue holds a B.S. from Rutgers University and an M.A. from Columbia University. She lives in New York City.