Project Plan - Gem City Mentors

By: Tim Leonard, Abby Lisjak, AJ Foster, Patrick Gray

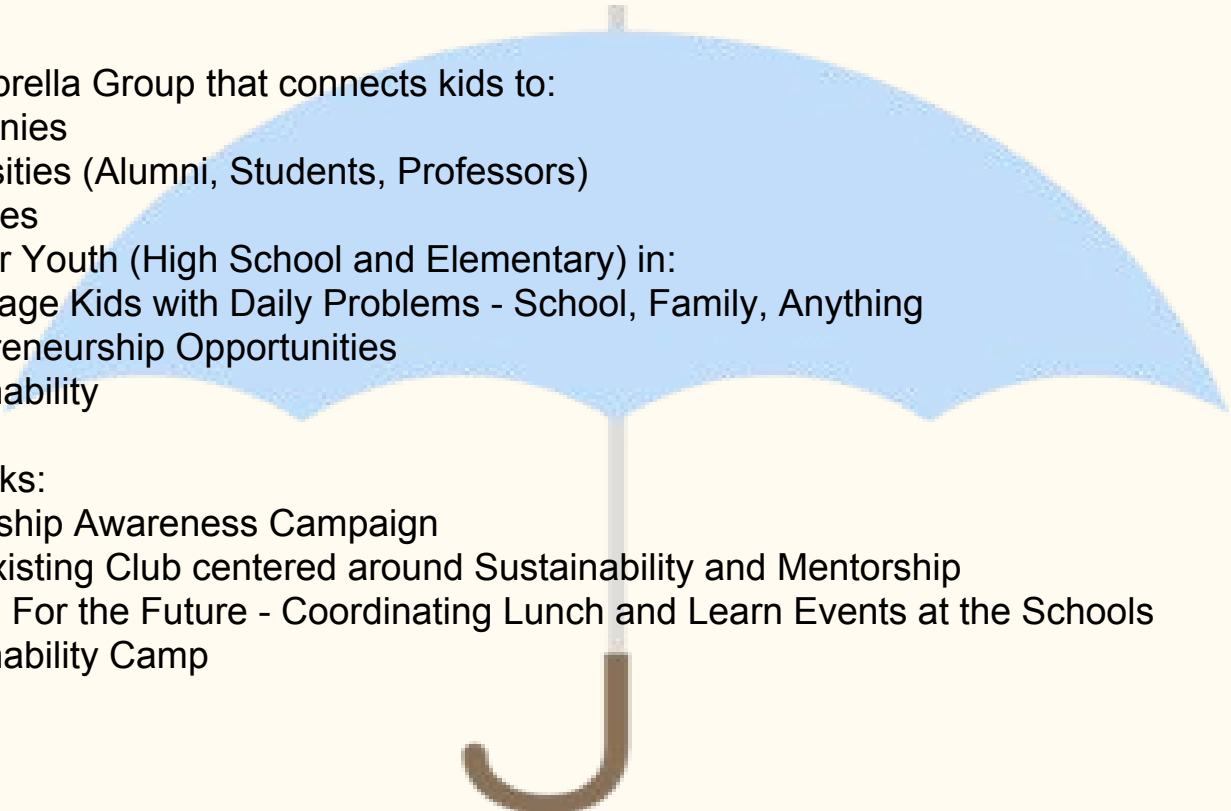

Problem

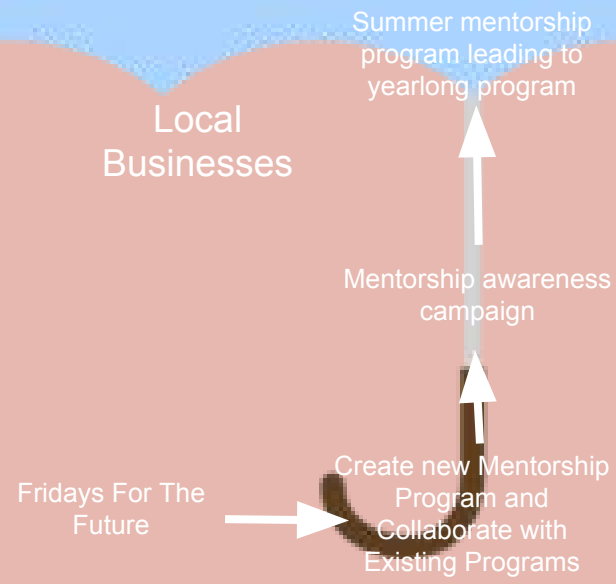

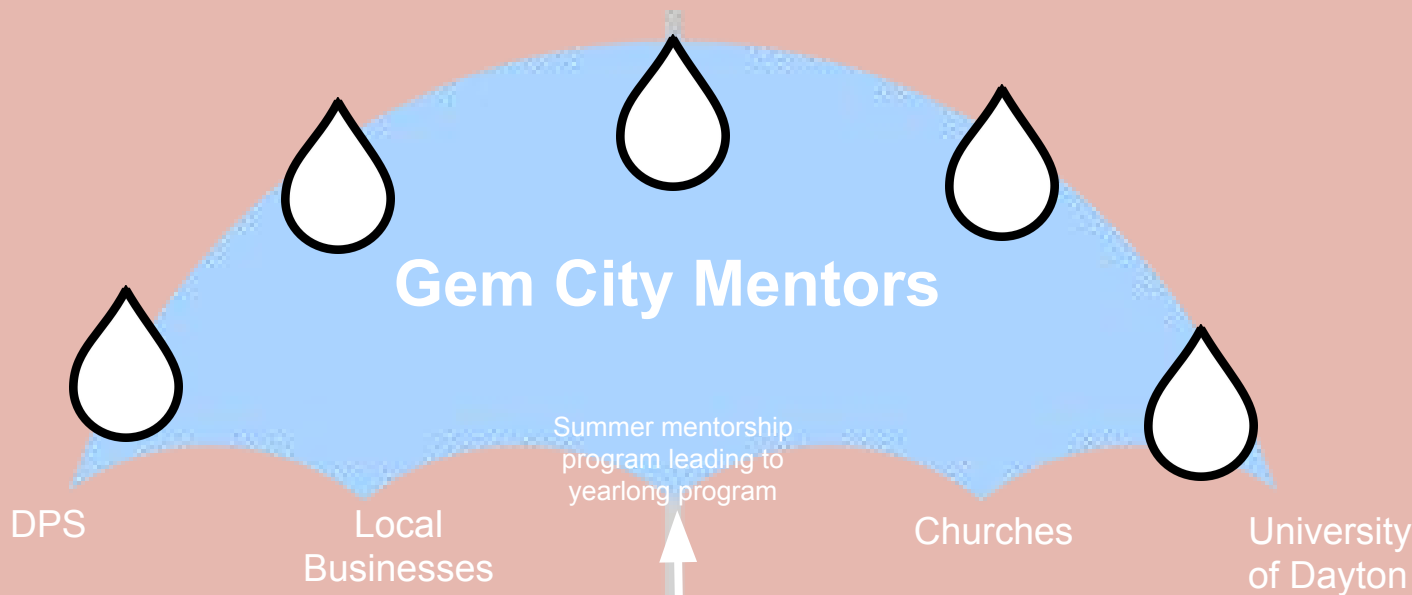

Children in the community are stuck in a cycle of poverty that greatly hinders their growth as a functioning member of society. Dayton is limited by its lack of opportunity resulting in a 70% graduation rate in Dayton public schools.

Ideal Vision

- Form an Umbrella Group that connects kids to:
 - Companies
 - Universities (Alumni, Students, Professors)
 - Churches
- Goal - Mentor Youth (High School and Elementary) in:
 - Encourage Kids with Daily Problems - School, Family, Anything
 - Entrepreneurship Opportunities
 - Sustainability
 - Health
- Building Blocks:
 - Mentorship Awareness Campaign
 - New/Existing Club centered around Sustainability and Mentorship
 - Fridays For the Future - Coordinating Lunch and Learn Events at the Schools
 - Sustainability Camp

How Are We Different

- Want to go to schools in West Dayton
- Mentor Kids of All Ages
 - High School - Entrepreneurship Sustainability and Health
 - Grade School - Sustainability and Health
- Partner with Companies and other Mentoring Collaboratives around Dayton

Connection to Other Groups

Situalis - Within the business to business website create a gem point system that showcases companies that provide mentors for kids through the Gem City Mentors program

Food and Energy Teams - Use projects created by these programs to be used as community projects and to inspire kids. Also target members of the programs as sources for reliable mentors.
