UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON CALENDAR OF ARTS AND EVENTS

General Interest

Tuesday - Wednesday, April 25 - 26

Seminar, "DFMA and Its Role in Product Development." Instructor: David G. Meeker. This seminar teaches the Design for Manufacturing and Assembly methodology — a valuable tool which facilitates the design and manufacture of products faster and less expensively while improving product quality. Fee: $995 per person; group discounts available. For more information or to register, call (937) 229-4632.

Wednesday - Thursday, April 26 - 27

Seminar, "Developing and Managing a Competitive, Global Supply Chain." Instructor: William T. Walker, CFPIM, CIRM. Learn how to engineer and operate a supply chain that's truly competitive. Fee: $995 per person; group discounts available. For more information or to register, call (937) 229-4632.

Wednesday - Thursday, May 3 - 4

Seminar, "Lean V: The Journey to Perfect Quality through Poka Yoke and ZQC." Instructors: Kevin Hop and Michel Baudin. If your quality improvement initiative has stalled, find out why — and learn from leading practitioners what it takes for quality in the 21st century. Fee: $995 per person; group discounts available. For more information or to register, call (937) 229-4632.

Thursday - Friday, May 4 - 5

Seminar, "Failure Mode and Effects Analysis Foundation." Instructor: Eden Chen, Ph.D. This seminar will address how to improve product development and design, predict unavoidable problems and plan for them, make the manufacturing process trouble-free, reduce lead time, boost product reliability and reduce liability, better prioritize resources and comply with government and agency quality regulations. Fee: $995 per person; group discounts available. For more information or to register, call (937) 229-4632.
