4-18-2018

Exhibit Poster: Making Art From and With Our Stories (Collage, Printmaking)

Lucy Bratton
University of Dayton

Taylor Wilson
University of Dayton

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/facing_marketing

eCommons Citation
https://ecommons.udayton.edu/facing_marketing/11

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Facing Dayton: Neighborhood Narratives at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Facing Dayton: Materials to Invite Engagement by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlangen1@udayton.edu.
Facing Dayton Storytellers were invited to join art education students during spring 2018 to reflect on and respond to their own stories through community art making. Storytellers used their own story as a jumping off point while working with pre-service art educators to create an artwork in collage or printmaking. Storytellers and student art educators worked alongside one another, building community, sharing ideas, and creating individually executed and crafted explorations through art. These workshops provided the storytellers opportunity to learn a new tool/media and future art educators an opportunity to work with adult learners in an intimate, relaxed setting.