- Session title

Charting a new course. Leaders with purpose.

- Brief description of session to include in conference schedule booklet (up to 150 words)

Flying without direction? Need a guide? Unsure of how to incorporate the Principles of Good Practice for Student Affairs at Catholic Colleges and Universities at your institution? Already use them but trying to think of how to use them as an assessment tool that connects to existing programs and community experiences?

Come join us to learn about our newly created alignment guide. This guide provides a connection to our existing Learning Dimensions, our Mount Leads Core Principles and the Principles of Good Practice. We hope this session is interactive and participants can all share the different ways they use the Principles of Good Practice at their institutions. We say we are mission-driven. We say we are guided by the spirit of our founders. Now we can prove it!

- Connection to conference theme: "Taking Flight: Developing Leaders for the Common Good" (up to 150 words)

The alignment guide connects Mount Saint Mary's University's Student Affairs Learning Dimensions and our Mount Leads Core Principles to the Principles of Good Practice for Student Affairs at Catholic Colleges and Universities. This guide is a valuable tool that will assist us in making intentional decisions about the experiences we provide for everyone in our community.

Leadership is part of our University Mission and in having one of the nation's first college leadership programs for women, we have always been called to deliver superior leadership opportunities.

This guide is a tool to develop holistic leaders who have meaningful lives, accomplish change and make a difference for the common good.

To allow student's to soar to their highest potential. We cannot fly without a map, we need this guide.
