University archives preserves the rich history of the University of Dayton through a captivating collection of documents, photographs, objects, art, music and more.

You are a part of the University's history. Your story — and what you kept from your time here — has enduring value in the University archives. We hope you will consider sharing it with us and, in turn, with others.

SHARE YOUR ITEMS WITH FUTURE GENERATIONS

What did you keep? We're interested in photographs and research or reflections depicting academic work, student life or community outreach. Did you witness an event on campus or attend a concert held at UD? Did you study abroad or go on a mission trip? We'd love for you to share your material. Some other items we'd be interested in:

- Films, videotapes and photographs
- Postcards
- Maps
- Organization newsletters, scrapbooks and histories
- Posters and fliers
- Student-produced publications
- Memorabilia
- Mementos or other items from religious celebrations on campus
- Letters, playbills, programs and event keepsakes

WE ARE COMMITTED TO PRESERVING YOUR MATERIAL AND MAKING IT AVAILABLE FOR RESEARCH ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON.

With every donated collection, we will:

- Review your material.
- Create inventories so the collection can be easily found and used.
- Follow best practices to preserve physical objects and digital materials.
- Promote collections through our website, digital collections and public exhibits.

If you have items that may be of historical or archival value to the University, please contact the University archives and special collections office. We'd be happy to discuss your items or come to visit you if circumstances permit. Please contact us for a tour of the archives.
