 - LGBTQ+ identifying students at any institution must daily navigate climates that range from dismissive to hostile toward their identities and experiences. Catholic institutions have unique opportunities, through our values and principles, to support LGBTQ+ students, to connect them with resources and services, and to provide unique leadership development opportunities.
 - This session will outline how one Catholic university has developed and grown a program of LGBTQ+ support that is rooted in its Catholic and Marianist values and teachings. The session will include examples of structures, services, education, programming, leadership development and training, and will close with time devoted to questions and discussion.
