

Springboro and West Carrollton School District

Five Points Elementary

- Helped kids with disabilities on their homework such as simple math and reading.
- Played card games with them like Uno, go fish, and simple matching games.
- We would also play outside on the playsets, take walks around the building and outside.
- The students also have chores that I helped them with, and they included setting up playground equipment and filling vending machines.

The School districts of Springboro and West Carrollton are vastly different. Springboro is located in a prominent area as opposed to West Carrollton which is in a lower-income area. During my time at each school I helped students with disabilities and observed a school resource officer and her duties.

Overall I enjoyed working with these schools and feel that I learned a lot and helped kids while my time there. It felt great to help these kids that needed it the most, and I had a great experience with the Community Engagement Assignment.

West Carrollton High School

- Helped the school resource officer maintain order in the school like checking doors and making sure they were secure.
- Met with students to talk with them about safety and how to act appropriate while at school.
- Observed the school resource officer take disciplinary actions towards a student if it was necessary and how the decision was made.
