Become a
Spring

The woman at the well in this week's Gospel was a rejected member of a despised group with broken relationships and perhaps a shattered sense of self. Like many of us, maybe she'd thought, "I'd be happy if... if I had a better body, if I were more talented, if I had the right clothes, parties, partners or possessions." Don’t we all thirst to be loved and cherished? And don’t we all sometimes feel the pain of isolation? While most women drew water early in the morning, she approached at noon, when no one else would be around.

Pope Francis says, "We achieve fulfillment when we break down walls and our heart is filled with faces and names." This is precisely what happens when an exhausted Jesus says, "Give me a drink." Crossing boundaries, Jesus meets this woman in her brokenness. There was a line not to be crossed between Jews and Samaritans, but Jesus crossed it. A Jewish man would never speak to a woman alone. But Jesus did. Finally, who would imagine that the Savior of the world would come as a tired, thirsty beggar to this woman on the margins? But that’s precisely what He did! He engineered an encounter of Love that broke down walls and filled the woman’s heart with His face of tenderness and the name above every other name.

Jesus says, “the water I shall give will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” Like the woman at the well, when we encounter Jesus, we move from isolation to receive living water and become a spring for others.
