DAYTON, O., -- Two authorities in financial management, both from Indianapolis, are among the five speakers scheduled to address the University of Dayton's second annual credit conference Feb. 4 at Hotel Miami.

Frank A. King, credit executive of the Inland Container Corp. in that city, will speak on "The Organization and Operation of an Efficient Credit Department," and John K. Rickles, attorney and former federal referee in bankruptcy of the southern district of Indiana will speak on "Dealing With Business Failures--Actual and Prospective."

They will be joined on the program by Emmett Daley, vice president of Winters National Bank and Trust Co.; Richard F. Wenzel, assistant cashier at the Third National Bank and Trust Co., and Dr. Thomas J. Hailstones, chairman of business programs at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

The conference is being sponsored in conjunction with the Dayton Association of Credit Men and the Dayton Credit Women's Club.

A highlight of the one-day conference will be a problems session in which registrants will be invited to submit their own credit problems to the panel of five experts.

Some 75 credit and sales executives attended last year's program.
