DAYTON, O., -- What are common stocks, preferred stocks, bonds? How do they differ? How do you select investments? How do you read financial reports? How do you interpret the behavior of the stock market? How does the stock exchange operate? How do tax laws affect your investments?

The answers to these and many similar questions will be forthcoming during the University of Dayton's investment workshop beginning on the campus Feb. 18.

Ten Tuesday evening sessions from 7:30 to 9:30 will be directed by George Humm, manager of the Dayton office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane.

(That investments are becoming a topic of great popular interest these days is borne out by the fact that already 88 persons have registered for the series and among the registrants are persons from Springfield, Troy, Germantown, Tipp City, Miamisburg, Minster, Ansonia, Piqua and Fairborn, in addition to Dayton.)
