Where is God in my life? What am I supposed to be doing next in life? What is the meaning of this darkness I encounter in prayer? Where can I go to wonder out loud about God? Sound familiar? Spiritual direction may be of help to you in answering some of these questions on your faith journey.

Spiritual Direction, an ancient spiritual practice from the Desert Fathers and Mothers, is open to anyone who is trying to figure out how to develop a prayer life or find God in life's experiences. Not only for religious or those considering religious life, but all are welcome to explore spiritual direction on their faith journey. When in a session, directees (those receiving direction) are encouraged to sit and talk about what God's doing in your life and pay attention to the calling of the Holy Spirit.

A spiritual director will not answer your questions for you or solve your problems, but will listen with the heart of God and reflect your thoughts back to you for further insight. Spiritual direction, despite the multiple meanings of the term "direction," is really about a spiritual director walking with a person as they go deeper with God.

It is not counseling or therapy, nor a replacement for those valued services. There is no cost for UD students, staff or faculty who wish to see the spiritual directors on the campus ministry website. To contact a UD spiritual director, go to: https://www.udayton.edu/ministry/care-growth/spiritual_direction.php

Reading II: Hebrews 9:24-28
Gospel: Mark 12:38-44 or 12:41-44

Mark 12:43-44

Throughout November, all are invited to write the name of a deceased loved one in the Book of the Dead in the Immaculate Conception Chapel. The names will be included in prayer throughout the month of November.

Quote Of the Week

I swore never to be silent whenever and wherever human beings endure suffering and humiliation. We must always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor, never the tormented.
Elie Wiesel”

A local charity which serves the poor in the Dayton area will receive 10% of every Sunday collection. The rest of the collection supports more than 100 Campus Ministry programs of all kinds, including our

Death & Grieving: Powerful Issues

The recent death on campus is a reminder of the importance of building a supportive community on campus. Losing a loved one, friend, or student can create many feelings including sadness, anger, disbelief, disorientation, anxiety and depression. Experiencing these feelings is often normal in the short term. However, if those feelings are becoming overwhelming, it is healthy to reach out - Campus Ministry (937-229-3339), Living with Loss Group, friends, faculty, mentors, The Counseling Center (937-229-3141), Residence Life staff, and others are able, willing, and ready to assist. Support yourself and support each other, and encourage friends to get help as needed. Positive mental/personal health means taking care of yourself on a number of levels and remembering others care about you. If you are feeling any level of distress over this recent death, remember one of the most effective ways to cope with a significant loss is to talk about your thoughts and feelings with someone who cares.

“Mary, Undoer of Knots” Traveling Prayer Wall

Join us as we unite our prayers with a traveling “Mary, Undoer of Knots” prayer wall around campus. Write your prayer intentions on pieces of fabric and tie them to the prayer wall. As you do, untie someone else's prayer and keep it with you as you pray for that person and their intention. The final destination is: IC Chapel Nov. 9-12.

For more details and applications on all of the above, go to www.udayton.edu/ministry or call Campus Ministry at 937- 229-3339 or the Center for Social Concern at 937-229-2524.
