FIELD HOUSE DRIVE
PROGRESS MARKED

Alumni response to the University of Dayton Student Council Field House Fund Drive has been very gratifying, according to Charles W. Whalen, Jr., '42, chairman of the alumni committee aiding the students in the promotion of the fund drive. “Those of the alumni who have not already responded to the letter mailed out last month should get their returns in by May 12,” Whalen said, adding that “the campaign will close on May 16. Contributions must be in by the earlier date,” he said, “to insure complete representation and returns.”

The fund drive sponsored by the university Student Council, is to help finance the proposed $300,000 field house, scheduled to be under construction soon. The campaign is under the general direction of James Whalen, president of the Student Council, who is being assisted by members of the council, U.D. class officers, and members of a special student committee. Serving with Charles Whalen, Jr., on the Alumni committee are Frank Doorley, ‘43, Clarke Kirby, ‘41, Robert Butler, ‘42, Jerry Westendorf, ‘43, and John Kussman, ‘43. All former students in the Dayton area as well as out-of-town alumni were contacted by a letter last month which gave complete details of the drive.

Students at the university have been working all through April and will continue to promote the donation appeal through May 15. The student response has been enthusiastic and student workers have been active every day in soliciting contributions. Expected returns will provide a sizable addition to the funds already available for the field house construction.

As planned last year the field house is intended to replace the outmoded U.D. gymnasium which was constructed in 1873. It will provide the university with one of the most modern basketball and indoor sports plants in the state. Present plans call for a seating capacity of 4,500.

FRONT COVER:—May we present the co-author and leads of the 13th annual Mask and Mascara musical show, “Let’s Get Out of This Firetrap,” staged in the U.D. gym, April 20, 21, and 22. Seated at the piano is Maurice R. Reichard, head of the music department who wrote and directed the production, Students Bonnie Winckelman and Bill Wagner played the leading roles.

Golfers Resume
Inter College Play

When the U.D. golfers resume intercollegiate competition against the University of Cincinnati May 30 they will be beginning a new era in Dayton golf, but U.D. golfers before them have achieved a mark that will be hard to equal. The sport as an intercollegiate activity was discontinued in the spring of 1940 in favor of an expanded intramural sports program, but prior to that time Dayton had boasted of a golf reputation second to none.

U.D. golf teams won four state championships in nine years of competition and Hilltop linksmen took the state individual crowns five times. The U.D. team was state champs in 1932, 1933, 1936 and 1937. Individual winners included Eddie Hamant, 1933, Joe Zatkiewicz who took the crown three successive years, 1936, ’37 and ’38, and John Humm who won the individual title in 1941 when golf was not on the official sports calendar.

The state intercollegiate golf tournament was begun in 1931 at Ridgewood Country Club, Cleveland. Ashland College won the first meet and Dayton finished second that year to come back for first place the next season. Records show that U.D. and Western Reserve were the only two colleges to have participated in every state tournament up to 1939.

Members of the 1932 championship team included Eddie Hamant, Hugh Wall, Jr., Tom Carey and John Geis. In 1933 Eddie and Cliff Hamant, Hugh Wall and Nelson Rudy took the title. In 1936 it was Joe Zatkiewicz, Jim Wall, Paul Genung and Earl Puterbaugh, while in ’37 Zatkiewicz, Genung, Wall and Chuck Walter teamed to take the honors.

MESSAGE FROM ALUMNI PRESIDENT

The Field House Drive is, or at least should be, the most important topic in Alumni circles today.

To date, ticket returns have been most encouraging. But keep up the good work, for we’ve got a long way to go to make the drive as successful as the committee had hoped.

With just a few days left to dispose of your tickets it’s vital that you get out and “hump”. Putting it off until tomorrow won’t get results. Your friends can’t buy if they don’t know you’ve got tickets to sell. And they will—if you ask. The value of the prizes alone would be inducement enough but you’ve also got the Field House sales appeal.

Help your committee end this drive with a whirlwind finish. Selling that first ticket is the hardest job. After that, the rest go easy.

Coeds Plan Annual “Turnabout” Dance

U.D. coeds will “turn the tables” on their fellow students when they hold their second annual “Turnabout Tag,” Wednesday, May 7, at Lakeside ballroom. The dance will be held in true "turnabout" style with the girls calling for their dates, furnishing appropriate corsages, and paying all expenses for their lucky guests. Highlight of the affair will be the crowning of a king chosen by coed vote. Grace Luther, junior education student, is chairman of the dance which is being sponsored by the Central Women’s Organization.

Candidates for king named by the various all-coed groups on the campus include Dick Dahn, named by the Women’s Chorus; Dan Brandt, candidate of the Home Economics club; Ed Busch, chosen by the Women’s Athletic Association; John “Stretch” Mahoney, chosen by the Women’s Rifle Team; Jim Bell, backed by an Independent group; and Edwin “Sandie” King, sponsored by the C.W.O. The election will be held May 5 with the winning candidate’s name being withheld until the night of the dance. An extensive publicity “war” is currently being waged among the groups sponsoring candidates for the title “Coed’s Choice.” Madeline Unger, junior physical education coed, is chairman of the publicity committee.

Others on the planning committee for the affair include Carmen Ventura, tickets; Wanda Ringo, decorations; Jeannette Stocklein, invitations; and Eleanor Kurtz, president of the group, member ex officio.

The “Turnabout Tag” was originated last year by Alpha Rho Tau, inactive arts group, to replace the “Spring Swing,” discontinued during the war years.

A competition for the most original corsage will also be held at intermission. Chaperones will act as judges and make the awards.

FISCH TO PLAY LEAD IN TESPIAN SHOW

William Fisch, sophomore arts student, will play the lead role of Harpagon when the U.D. Thespians present “The Miser,” an eighteenth century comedy by the French dramatist Moliere on May 30 and June 1, at the Dayton Art Institute. The cast of the production was selected after an extensive series of try-outs, according to Director John McGrath.

Supporting roles in the cast include Evelyn Reichard, Jeane Warman, Norris Hellwig, Bob Kemper, Rita McGarry, and Mickey Stauffer. The version of the play which the Thespians will present is a new acting version based on an old English translation arranged by Walter F. Kerr of Catholic university.

Additional members of the cast are Tom Cron, Mary Van Dyke Brown, Peggy Davis, Jacqueline Dehn, Frank Short, and Everett Quintrell. C. King Bradow, senior arts student will handle the business arrangements.

Thespians are believed to be the first dramatic group in this area to present a Moliere comedy. According to executive committee members. Thespians will present three major productions next year in addition to some radio work and individual projects.

BOARD TO GOVERN COLUMBUS CHAPTER

The Columbia Chapter of the Alumni Association met at the Ohio Fuel Gas Company Home Service Auditorium on Thursday evening, April 17. George Humm, acting chairman, conducted the meeting. Nominations were made for election to a five man board, one member of which will be rotated at new elections every six months. Nominees included: Lou Favret, ’16; Ray Conners, ’34; Elmer Zang, ’35; Charles Leech, ’26; George Humm, ’40; George Igel, ’45; Don Brown, ’26; Seburn Alexander, ’36; and John Wirtz, ’38. Elected for the first term were Don Brown, George Igel, George Humm, Elmer Zang, and Ray Connors. The board will determine the time of the next election, and a place and day for a monthly luncheon for Chapter members, their friends and visiting alumni. The board members have already begun planning for the Chapter’s part in the 1947 Homecoming celebration.

John Wirtz introduced the guest speaker, Joe Gavin, head football coach of U.D., who gave alumni a preview of next season’s grid prospects. Gavin introduced Joe Thomas, ’40, assistant football coach and former varsity back, who recalled his own days of spring practice at the university.

Graduates and former students attending the meeting included: George Humm, ’40; Cliff Taylor, ’36; Joseph Igel, ’42; George Igel, ’45; Jane Humm, ’42; John Wirtz, ’38; Elmer Zang, ’35; Quintin Weilbacher, ’42; Ray Conners, ’34; Brother Vincent Wottle, S.M.; Charles Falkenback, ’26; Sam Simmons, ’41; Charles Hayes; Paul Kappes, ’43; Ed Dwyer, ’26; Elmer Jacobs, ’38; Glen Jacobs, ’25; Joe Aman, ’25; and Charles Kuhns, ’27.

Spring Sports Fill Campus Calendar

Intercollegiate golf and baseball are back on the U.D. spring sports calendar this year after a prolonged absence caused by the war. Athletic director Harry Baujan called candidates together before Easter and following the vacation had made arrangements for both sports programs.

Golf will be coached by Tom Blackburn, new Flyer basketball coach and professional at Madden Park. Matches will be played at the park, Baujan announced, following the city's approval of the university's request to use the layout. A golf tournament is planned to choose the varsity team members from among the fourteen aspirants.

Baujan is directing the baseball team which faces a nine-game intercollegiate schedule besides a number of practice games with local amateur nines. More than 50 candidates turned out for the first baseball practice session and Baujan was faced with the problem of cutting the squad down to workable size. A number of experienced players are available and the Flyer coach will be able to man almost all positions with veteran talent.

Familiar names on the baseball roster include Joe Zoul, Bill Gutbrod, and Wilbur Sizer, pitchers; Don Pinciotti, catcher; Bob Arzen, Bill Ginn, and Don Cashman in the infield, and Paul Reichert in the outfield. Other valuable players are sure to show up as soon as the season gets properly under way, the Flyer coach said, but at first the Dayton lineup will include most of the familiar names. The Flyers played several practice games in April and began the regular season April 22 against Miami University. Home games are being played at Hudson Field.

Baseball Schedule

April 22—Miami U. at Dayton
May 6—Xavier U. at Dayton
10—Wilberforce at Wilberforce
13—Ohio U. at Dayton
15—Xavier U. at Cincinnati, Ohio
24—Miami U. at Oxford, Ohio
27—Wilberforce at Dayton
31—Ohio U. at Athens, Ohio
June 2—University of Cincinnati at Dayton

Gavin Schedules

Intra-Squad Games

A series of weekly intra-mural football contests feature the Flyers' spring gridiron practice under the direction of head coach Joe Gavin. Begun April 12 as an incentive for the U.D. grid hopefuls, the games which are held each Saturday and are conducted like the real fall battles except for kickoff's, provide the Dayton coaching staff with a means of evaluating the talents of the pigskin aspirants.

Coach Gavin reports that the games have been helpful in determining the football abilities of the players and in showing up the strength and weaknesses of the coaching program. Each Saturday's contest is carefully analyzed and any faults that show up are corrected in the next week's training program. Several changes in assignment have come about as a result, notable guard Bill Lange being moved over to tackle while Al Speth was changed from tackle to guard.

The games are played on the university practice field on Saturday afternoons in place of the daily calisthenics, formation drills and scrimmage that are standard for the rest of the week. Gavin divides the 50-man squad into "Blue" and "White" teams and employs substitutions, officials and linemen exactly as in a regular ball game.

Led by flashy halfback Art Bok and Johnny Delp, the "Blues" won the first contest 31-7. Delp accounted for three of the Blue scores, reeling off 89 yards on one spectacular run, while Bok tallied two touchdowns. Both are former Toledo Central Catholic high school athletes.

Spring football practice will continue through April according to Gavin who has scheduled the final intra-squad game for Saturday, May 3.

U.D. BAND PRESENTS SPRING CONCERT

U.D.'s fifty-five piece concert band under the direction of Maurice R. Reichard, music department head, presented the twenty-third in a series of annual spring concerts, Sunday, March 30, at the N.C.R. auditorium. This public appearance of the group was its first since its reorganization this year.

Two of Director Reichard's original compositions were featured on the program. Ballad and Scherzo for Trombones was played by a trio consisting of Harold Matheney, William Fitzpatrick, and Paul Jennings. The other composition introduced by the band was The Daytonian, a march which Reichard wrote several years ago and dedicated to the Red and Blue band.

Vocal soloist Morton Fried, sophomore fine arts student, was especially
