Class of 2014

Brainiacs

85% of UD's incoming first-year students ranked in the top two percentile for high school ranking.

Social Scene

During Orientation, first year students are provided with numerous opportunities to meet new people and get to know the UD community.

Making History

The class of 2014 made history at the University of Dayton! To date, they are the most ethnically and geographically diverse class to ever hit campus!

2014 vs. The Nation

With 97.9 % of students scoring between 20-36 on their ACT's, the class of 2014 beat the national average of 21. (UD's first-years had a mean average of 25.9)

New Student Orientation

"Nothing is secure but life, transition, the energizing spirit."

- Ralph Waldo Emerson

Moving In

On August 21st, the first-year class moved into the various halls around campus. Founders, Stuart, Marycrest, and Marianist - by the time they leave, everyone thinks they had the best res-hall!

Convocation

First Year students are welcomed by the faculty and staff, where they are provided advice and reminded of the continued support that is available to them.

Weeks of Welcome

WoW provides students with a continuation of New Student Orientation. The plethora of activities available during these 8-weeks include Family Weekend and retreats.

Much to Learn

Just as this incoming class has a lot to learn from the university, the university has a lot to learn from them!

Freshman Class

There are few places in this world where you can be guaranteed to find friendly people and one of those places is the University of Dayton!

Benjamin Durst, Freshman

Freshman year was a struggle academically, but the social and cultural experience was non-replaceable... I love it here!

Gerard Williams, Freshman

Jacqueline Sammon
Senior

"For me, Student Life is about getting involved on campus. We have such a unique living community with the Student Neighborhood and the smaller size of our school, and we need to utilize that to create great events and clubs on campus."

Jonathan Terry
Senior

"Just the interactions between students and the everyday things that students do, such as talking to professors and going to the RecPlex and having meetings in the Hangar."

Kevin Stanton
Senior

"Student Life is about the way students on this campus interact. We are one of the happiest schools around, everyone is always cheerful and friendly. That's half the reason why I came here, also the student neighborhood is so unique and I love this campus!"

Jenni Zorich
Junior

"To me, Student Life is all about being involved on campus, meeting new people, and hanging out with friends. I have had such a wonderful experience at UD that I wish it could never end. I have met so many amazing people through my sorority and other organizations that I am a part of and I know we will be friends for years to come."

Sophomore

"I feel like student life is about building friendships and the connections we make at UD. I stayed here over the summer because I didn't want to leave this place I call home. And after just two years I have made some of my best friends here."

What does Student Life mean to you?

"I really like the new changes to the old KU Field. I lived in Marycrest over the summer and I watched the entire transformation and it was really loud in the morning but totally worth it. I'm really impressed with the changes."

Cameron Lowe, Senior

Life at the TOP of the hill

Stuart's new lobby

Life on top of the hill continues to look up for residents of Stuart Hall, as its two-year renovation was completed this summer.

Stuart's new front desk

During the renovation, the front desk was moved to a more central location.

In addition to air conditioned rooms, students in Stuart can now enjoy a new lobby, elevators and common areas. This year the chapel was moved from the basement to the first floor, and Stuart's Landing was moved further back on the first floor to allow for extra seating in the lobby.

Additional renovations include a greatly improved laundry room with upgraded washers and dryers.

Campus Renovation

In March 2010, the University began a major renovation of the Central Mall. When students returned in August, the KU field had been transformed into a beautiful, green landscape.

Construction wasn't finished for long, however. Following this $3 million renovation of the Central Mall, construction of a fountain began in October. All winter, students were curious as to how the fountain would look.

The renovations were completed to "provide as comfortable and welcoming an environment as possible for our students," according to Leslie Groesbeck, Director of Planning and Construction Management.

CAB Events

CAB (Campus Activities Board) is a student run organization that works with the administration to provide UD students with fun, high-impact events on and off campus. This year, CAB started hosting events every Friday and Saturday night, hoping to provide fun activities throughout the weekend. This ensured that students didn't have to miss out on events such as: concerts, bowling, movies, and white water rafting. Another new addition this year was the creation of a concert and comedy series, featuring three concerts and three comedians each semester, according to Erin Moriarty, co-president. This year, CAB also continued to forge new partnerships with University departments and student organizations. CAB and IFC (interfraternity council) worked together to host a game night with AWESOME prizes, and ArtStreet worked with CAB to host some events outside the student union!

Family Weekend

On October 1st, parents came to celebrate and experience college life with their children. Family weekend started off with a corn-hole tournament outside the RecPlex. This weekend was full of planned events, but for many students it was just about hanging out with their parents (or a chance to re-stock the fridge and closet). On Saturday, families had the chance to see a football game, run a 5K, see a soccer game, and go on a treasure hunt. On Saturday night, some students shared UD traditions with their parents, while many learned more about their parents' time in college.

One of the largest events of the weekend was the pancake breakfast on Sunday morning. With unprecedented popularity, McGinnis Center was full of people and pancakes all morning. The proceeds from the breakfast went to Distance4Dreams, a campus organization that raises money for A Special Wish Foundation. Despite a little bit of rain, the weekend was full of great events and times cherished with family and friends.

"Family Weekend was awesome. I had been anticipating it all week. I had not seen my brother since I left for school and, yes, I'll admit it, I missed him. It was great to see my parents, too. "

Nick class of 2014

Viktor Uzur (cello) and Brad Richter (guitar) are each classical musicians of the highest caliber, with training from two of the world's most lauded musical institutions --The Moscow Conservatory and The Royal College of Music. Together they've developed a sparkling, inventive program of music ranging from Bela Bartok's Romanian Folk Dances to Zeppelin inspired compositions.

Brooklyn-based quartet "So Percussion" brought its unique sound to the University of Dayton.

The quartet hosted a workshop and jam session at the ArtStreet Amphitheater that day. People from all over campus came to meet the artists, bringing instruments and noise-makers for a creative and musically exciting evening!

Art Series

Since 1961, the Arts Series of the University of Dayton has been presenting outstanding performing arts programs. Open to both the campus and wider Dayton community, these events feature artists drawn from across the country and the world. With concerts, lectures, films and more, these programs offer a lively look at the diversity of our arts traditions and often challenge us -- like all rich educational experiences -- to think about our world in new ways.

Halloween

On Wednesday Oct. 27, student living areas transformed into spooky haunted houses full of trick-or-treaters. The University of Dayton Student Government Association, with help from the Department of Housing and Residence Life, helped put on this trick-or-treat event with over 255 pounds of candy to pass out to kids. On Halloween night, the neighborhood was full of creative and interesting costumes. One group dressed as the entire Mario Kart crew, while across campus characters from Sesame Street were spotted. Someone even recreated the singing woman from the corner of Brown and Stuart.

"At first we just had an archway, but then we decided to go all the way and make a haunted house. All the guys on the floor helped work, pay for, and be in the haunted hallway."
Sophomore Brian

"We originally had a $50 budget, but then we just went unlimited. We used a huge roll of black paper and a lot of duct tape. It took over ten hours!"
First Years Denis, Gavin, and Mike

In anticipation of the trick-or-treaters, the ground floor of Founders created a haunted house. They spent many hours and a lot of money to create their spooky hallway.

Every year children from Dayton schools all around come to UD to spread the Halloween spirit. Students are reminded of the welcoming community our school creates.

Marianist Hall

While students from the residence halls host the festivities, those residing in the neighborhood are welcome to join in!

Bars and The KU Pub

Trying to find a senior on a Friday at 5:00? Search Bargos.
Looking for an upperclassman on St. Patrick's Day? Try Flanagan's.
Want to catch "the big game?" Head on over to B-Dubs.
These bars and pubs are an important part in the culture of UD.
A student's establishment of choice can define their senior year.
Which one will you remember most?

Bargos is known for its crazy hour from 5-6pm on Friday evenings. The name suits the event, the place is usually packed. Besides that, the distance from the neighborhood usually makes this bar a 3rd or 4th choice for many students.

Flanagan's Pub is a UD classic with its Irish tradition and dollar wells. The atmosphere is usually more laid back than some of the other bars on campus, but if you get the chance to experience Flanny's on St. Patrick's Day you are in for quite a party.

Buffalo Wild Wings

If you are a sports fan then this is the bar for you. Thursday nights offer 55 cent wings, which is always a plus. If you are looking to watch any sporting event, chances are it's playing on one of their many tvs. This is not the first bar many UD students think of, but it is known for its great sports atmosphere.

Milano's

Milano's is a family restaurant by day and an all out club at night. This bar is one of the most popular on campus and offers a wide range of activities. If you enjoy Karaoke, Wednesdays are the days for you. And with a different drink special each night, this is a great place to spend time with friends.

The Fieldhouse

For upperclassman looking for a place to chill on a Friday... or Tuesday, the Fieldhouse is the place to be. On Tuesday nights, they have a live trivia competition. This brings large crowds, because everyone wants to try and win a fishbowl.

The Pub

Most of the senior class thought they would never get a chance to experience The Pub, but thanks to the "Save the Pub" campaign, it will be around for generations to come.

Tim's

This is one of the top bars near campus... but you either love it or you hate it. Many people are proud Tim's Rats; they frequent the establishment several times in a weekend. There is always a DJ and a great dance floor atmosphere.

Food on Campus

The University of Dayton dining halls received nation-wide attention this year from The National Association of College and Food Services. The university received a sliver medal in the annual Loyal E. Horton competition under the category of dining services and operations. While the Marycrest Dining Hall was renovated in 2008, students were excited to learn that renovations took place in the Kennedy Union Dining Hall during the 2010 summer. These renovations, including an all new "Runway" sandwich area, combined with our unique dining staff helped us to win one of the highest and most esteemed awards in North America!

No wonder those cheesesteaks are sooo good!!!!!!

M-Fest

M-fest is an art and music event held at ArtStreet each year, named after a University of Dayton student, Mike Littler, who died by suicide at UD. This event was created in 2003 to raise awareness for mental health and provide an environment in which mental health can be openly discussed.

REACH Out With Active Minds sponsors the event annually; this UD service club aims to raise awareness about the issues surrounding mental health.

Participants at the event had the opportunity to listen to live bands, see an art show, and read the posts from Dayton Secret. This local version of Post Secret allows students to submit their deepest secrets anonymously on postcards in order to let them out.

Some additional highlights included a puppy petting area from the local Humane Society and the ability to add personal touches to a banner for the event.

Performances for M-Fest included many musical groups, but also featured a dance performance by the UD Dance ensemble.

Cake was available for students around campus, to celebrate the 250th anniversary of William Chaminade's birth.

The commemorative mass dedicated to Chaminade.

T-shirts were also distributed to celebrate the anniversary. A large banner of William Chaminade was placed in the entrance of KU.

250th Anniversary

During the spring semester, the University of Dayton celebrated the 250th anniversary of the birth of Blessed Fr. William Joseph Chaminade, the founder of the Society of Mary.

UD kicked off the festivities with a mass for Chaminade Day, and a feast held in the RecPlex. The mass celebrated Chaminade's life and ministry. A Chaminade banner, originally displayed in Rome on the occasion of his Beatification, was hung in the main entrance of Kennedy Union. A statue of Chaminade was ALSO commissioned and will be placed in the KU Central Mall. There will be a wide range of events for students as campus continues to celebrate this anniversary. It is important to remember Chaminade's important role in the founding of the Marianist order, and its impact on the development of UD as a Catholic and Marianist institution.

During our Snowday/Iceday, the whole campus was under a blanket of thick ice.

Winter on Campus

Five of the nine months the average student spends on campus are spent enduring cold, snowy, dark weather. Luckily, students have found ways to make this into the most exciting time of the year. We have Christmas on Campus to raise our spirits, numerous snowball fights, and sledding down Stuart Hill. While these are all fun, one of the best parts about the winter season are the snow days! We were granted two snow days this year... or should we call them ice days?

Beginning the night of Monday, Jan. 31, and continuing through Wednesday, Feb. 2, it was raining, hailing and snowing all at the same time. Naturally, this concoction froze, covering Dayton in a think layer of ice. The University of Dayton was closed on Tuesday and Wednesday due to the weather.

Christmas on Campus

The 47th annual Christmas on Campus celebration kicked off on December 8th. This is one of the nation's largest one day on-campus service events.

Every year in early December, UD students participate in Christmas on Campus, an event in which approximately 1,000 first and second graders from Dayton Public Schools are "adopted" for the night by a UD student.

The theme for this years event was "Be The Gift". Traditionally when a child is adopted, the UD student will buy the child a gift. Then they get the opportunity to travel all over campus to do hundreds of activities ranging from making gingerbread houses, watching a Christmas movie, petting reindeer or meeting Santa.

At the end of the evening, the University of Dayton community came together at the culminating Mass to give thanks for the great holiday, and most importantly the spirit of giving it creates.

"Christmas on campus was amazing this year. I adopted a really nice little girl and we met Santa, made paper snowflakes and drank hot chocolate. She really liked the book I got for her. I couldn't have asked for a better COC experience!"
Britany Parrish, Senior

Christmas on

Christmas on Campus is a student-run organization that works year-round to bring joy to hundreds of children in the Dayton area for the holidays. The COC committee works the year with 15 create one magical schools' first and students take the for a night of watching the lighting of the Christmas tree in Humanities Plaza and the carnival that takes place at the RecPlex.

Little Sibs Weekend

Little Sibs Weekend, in which UD students' siblings are invited to come to campus, was organized by Campus Activities Board and Graduate Students Michelle Stover and Sara Gothelf. This year, there were a record breaking 300-plus little sibs in attendance. Events kicked off on Friday, March 25, with a midnight pancake breakfast, a Flick and Float at the RecPlex pool, comedians in KU Ballroom, and campus tours.

Saturday began with UD's "The Amazing Space," followed by inflatables in the RecPlex Main Gym. Students and their siblings also made photo flip-books and UD keychains. Perhaps the most attractive event of the weekend was the caricature artist at ArtStreet. Saturday night, there was a video game tournament in the Hangar, a talent show in Torch Lounge, a magician, and a Glow-in-the-Dark Fest in the RecPlex.

Before siblings left on Sunday, they could enjoy one more Marycrest meal and attend mass at the Immaculate Conception Chapel.

"Visiting on Little Sibs Weekend as a high school senior was the main deciding factor for me to choose to go to school here," said Andrea Draving. "The weekend provided me with a glimpse of the friendly, welcoming and warm UD community, and I knew I wanted to be a part of that."

St. Patrick's Day

The 2011 St. Patrick's Day festivities had campus filled with a sea of green-clad students celebrating the Irish holiday. This is the third year in a row when the students of UD have been on campus for St. Patrick's day.

This is also the third year in a row when the weather has been above 60 degrees on this festive holiday. Many students got off to any early start with Tim's offering free t-shirts at 5am. The rest of the neighborhood was awake a little later to kick off the celebration.

The day also consisted of community events including Irish Fest at the RecPlex which offered multicultural events including Irish music, dancing, food and activities for students to enjoy!

Student Employment

The opportunities abound for students looking for employment on campus. From being a teaching assistant, dining services worker, front desk worker, or campus tour guide, everyone can find something that interests them. One of the best things about having a campus job is that they are understanding of the demands of being a student. Many of the jobs allow you to have fun and meet new people as well. Student employees can work from 2 to 20 hours a week - flexibility is key based on the number of credit hours for that semester. Also, it provides necessary work experience, such as leadership opportunities, responsibility, time management, and other necessary job skills that future employers will be looking for.

UD Retreats

Community. Simplicity. Prayer. Faith. Service. That is the motto for Campus Ministry Retreats. The university as a whole is known for its sense of community, but participating in one of the numerous retreats brings more than a sense of community, it brings with it a sense of family. All of the retreats take place off campus in natural settings, which provides an excellent opportunity for busy, stressed students to take a step away from their crazy, hectic lives and enjoy the beauty of nature and focus on what is important. All of the retreats also offer a time for prayer in many different ways, from sacramental and community prayers, to private reflections and meditations in nature. Each retreat provides a great way to reconnect with your faith. Campus Ministry makes certain that students of any and all denominations are welcome at any of the retreats. Finally, each retreat provides an opportunity to focus on serving one another as a way of continuing to build community and living out faith.

Campus Ministry offers a dozen different retreats, allowing students to find the perfect one for them. There is the Couples Retreat for undergraduate students, the Road Less Traveled Retreat for first years, the PORCH Retreat for students, faculty, and staff, the New Beginnings Retreat for first years, and one of the more popular, the More to Life Retreat, for sophomores, juniors, and seniors. There are also Interdenominational Ministry Retreats for those who prefer it. There is definitely the perfect retreat for everyone.

Campus Ministry

The University of Dayton is home to the largest campus ministry in the world! Campus Ministry holds a special place in the hearts of students here at the University of Dayton. An especially unique aspect of our Campus Ministry is the availability of masses held in residential areas throughout the week. With a campus minister in every residence hall and in the student neighborhood, prayer and worship are always a short walk away! For those interested in a more traditional type of service, there are also six worship services each Sunday, with services taking place in Immaculate Conception, McGinnis and Marianist Hall.

Campus Ministry's music ministry is home to many students who like to express themselves for the Lord. Within this section is the Undergraduate Music Ministry, a job that combines a person's desire to worship and express their musical talents at the same time. For students not really looking for serious commitment, there are opportunities to serve as a volunteer musician or singer for the university community.

If you're not really sure where your faith life fits in, feel free to worship with the Interdenominational Ministry, better known as UDIM. This is a place where people from many backgrounds and faith-traditions can come together for a common purpose, which is to share in the word of a higher calling.

Students learn about trust and friendship on retreats and about faith and God during services.

Students enjoy a Campus Ministry sponsored Ice Cream Party during Orientation Weekend. It is a great place to cool off and meet new people.

Changing the World... One Student At A Time!

Besides worship, Campus Ministry offers many different way to express your faith with others, and also use your faith to help bring about change.

Within Campus Ministry is the Center for Social Concern. This is a place where faith and justice unite. The center is a very active place for integrating morality and faith by creating active agents of change within the world. Through the Center for Social Concern, there are many service clubs and Service Saturdays. Service Saturdays are a way for students to volunteer their time and efforts to local places and people in need! The Center for Social Concern is a great way to be unite your faith and desire for equality.

One of the ways the University's Campus Ministry tries to help bring about change throughout the world is by sponsoring numerous breakout trips and cultural immersions. These tours take students all over the United States and even across the globe to help students become actively aware of the social injustices that affect communities near and far. In addition to US destinations, students get to travel to countries like Mexico, El Salvador, Ecuador, Belize, Honduras, Guatemala, Zambia, and Cameroon. Students can also immerse themselves in cities such as Chicago, East St. Louis, Trenton, New Jersey and New Orleans.

Campus Ministry also hosts numerous great retreats. These retreats are a way for students to get away from the everyday hustle of campus and express and share their faith lives with other people as a way to enrich themselves and others around them.

R.I.S.E. 2011

R.I.S.E is a investment conference that is jointly run by the University of Dayton and United Nations Global Impact. The conference is held every year on UD's campus, and 2011 marked its 11th year. It is the largest student investment conference in the world!

This year, the conference took place March 31st - April 2nd. The opening day keynote speakers were Dr. Mark Sniderman, who serves as Executive Vice President and Chief Policy Officer of the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland and Bill Walton, one of the greatest NBA basketball players of all times.

R.I.S.E. is a forum, geared towards university students, where Wall Street and corporate executives come together as panelists to discuss the market, social responsibility and risk management of the economy. Attendees chose from a variety of workshops ranging from portfolio construction, to trading stimulations and risk management strategies. Many students also chose to engage in a career strategies forum, which taught students how to compete and succeed in today's competitive workforce. The forum also talked about the different career options within the capital markets.

The conference was not only a place for business moguls and students, however. Through the Academic Program Development Forum, educators had an opportunity to exchange ideas in areas such as investment management and best practices in finance education.

Needless to say, this unique conference held at UD continues to keep us in the forefront of business education! We can't wait to see what the conference offers next year!

Leadership on Campus

While there are various leadership opportunities on campus, perhaps the most recognized leaders on campus are the members and leaders of the Student Government Association, the Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council, and the National Pan-Hellenic Council. SGA is a representative governing body that addresses the concerns of the undergraduate student population. IFC is the governing body for ten of UD's fraternal organizations that aids the chapter fraternities in the areas of recruitment, academics, service, public relations, financial and educational programming, and risk management.

Panhel strives to develop confident, competent young women by promoting excellence in leadership, scholarship, and service endeavors and is the governing body for the values-based sororities on campus. NPHC works to foster cooperative action of its members in dealing with matters of mutual concern, including recruitment, risk management, academics, and public relations. These leaders help make the University the wonderful place that it is.

LitFest 2011

This year's LitFest was themed A Sea of Diversity: Rising Tides, Rising Authors. The fest took place on April 1st and 2nd, 2011. Many of the literary guests included UD student and faculty as well as students from surrounding high schools such as Chiminade Julienne and Dayton Early College Academy.

LitFest was also open to the greater community. The two day program included readings from renowned speakers and poets such as Kwame Dawes, Kathy Fagan, Frank X Walker, and Katrina Kittle. This year, Dayton Contemporary Dance Company also performed.

The fest included creative writing workshops on fiction, creative non-fiction, poetry, and screenwriting. It was certainly a creative festival of literary arts that brought together the UD and Dayton communities in celebration of the arts.

ROTC

The Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program offers students the opportunity to receive unmatched leadership training. The ROTC program is designed primarily to develop leaders through classroom activities, hands-on training (both indoor and outdoor), and many other team building exercises. ROTC is a values-based program where basic values such as integrity, personal courage, respect, and honor are the foundation upon which they build successful, competent leaders of the future.

It is an organization where an individual becomes part of a group, gains confidence, develops and refines leadership attributes, and builds lasting friendships. ROTC also offers rappelling, marksmanship, land navigation and physical training for those who want a challenge and a change from the daily classroom routine. The program further provides students who are working toward a baccalaureate degree the opportunity to become officers in the United States Army. The four-year program is divided into a basic course and an advanced course. The basic course emphasizes practical leadership techniques and management concepts. The advanced course is designed to prepare students to be Army lieutenants by including practical work in tactics, training, management, leadership techniques, and the exercise of command. During the first two years at the university, ROTC cadets have no military obligation.

Following graduation, ROTC cadets are required to serve in the active Army, Army National Guard, or the Army Reserve. These students learn how to be ARMY STRONG.

ORGANIZATIONS

Up the Orgs 2010

Up The Orgs took place August 25th-27th for this school year. There were over 200 organizations in attendance over the three days.

Up the Orgs is an active way for first-years and upper-classmen alike to look for organizations to be a part of.

Most importantly, Up the Orgs is a way for students to get involved in organizations and meet people who may hold similar values, stand for the same causes, or enjoy similar activities.

Part of what makes college so great are the extras; it isn't just the education within the classroom, but the education you receive in your co-curricular activities, especially when you stand up for something you believe in!

Solidarity

Solidarity is a service club sponsored in part by the Center for Social Concern. It was founded in 2009 by undergraduate students Claire Hampel and Annie Buscemi.

The organization was founded on the principle of mentoring young girls who are in elementary and middle school within the local Dayton area. They meet twice a month with the Girl's Club (the group of girls they mentor) to talk about issues such as body image, beauty, peer pressures and bullying. Most importantly, they serve as constant role models and trusting figures within these young girls' lives. They take pride in knowing that they are actively shaping these young women to have the potential to be whatever they want!

Along with Girls Club, there is also another sector of Solidarity called Outreach. In Outreach, they go to many local schools within the Dayton area for 4 hours and give intervention programs about the side effects of bullying and the positive effects of what happens when young women build one another up, rather than tearing one another down. They also talk about the importance of self love and self worth.

The newest division of Solidarity is Advocacy. Though the group caters to girls throughout the Dayton community, they felt it was important to represent the issues women face on UD's campus and within the greater Dayton area. For Advocacy, the group has programs that surround experiences that women go through that may be considered taboo and bring them to light. They want to create a safe haven where women may come to talk about the issues they face and how to go about implementing change!

Marching Band

"Being in POD was one of the best decisions I've made here at UD. The friends I've made, the memories I've made with those friends, I wouldn't give any of it up. POD will be my most-missed part of my UD experience." Emily Walters- Senior

Rain or shine, win or lose, the marching band is always there to support the red and blue Dayton Flyers.

Flyer Pig

Flyer Pig is a student-run initiative that allows students to make a difference at UD. Each student is given a Flyer Pig-gy bank to keep their spare change in. A few times each year, the change is collected. This money, as well as the proceeds from their annual 5k go directly back to students in the form of book scholarships!

ZETA TAU ALPHA

FREEFAHL

Locally, our chapter hosts FREEFAHL, Forever Reminding and Educating Every Female About Healthy Living. A concert is held every Fall. Another event we host is Golf Fore the Cause. During Dad's Weekend, we go on a golf outing to raise money for the Susan G. Komen foundation. Nancy Brinker started the foundation in 1982, in memory of her sister, who passed away after a three-year struggle with the disease. The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation raises funds for advancement of breast cancer research, education, screening, and treatment. Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity for women chose this organization as its philanthropy in 1992, and ZTA furnishes more than a quarter of a million dollars to the Komen Foundation each biennium.

The Iota Pi chapter was established here at the University of Dayton on March 21st, 1987. We are proud to have over 100 active members at UD.

The sisters of the Iota Pi chapter are women of sisterhood, scholarship, service and so much more! We are extremely dedicated to raising money for our philanthropy, Breast Cancer Education & Awareness, through two major fundraisers each year. However, sisterhood is what ZTA is all about, and is established through fun activities, such as retreats, socials, karaoke nights, and Mom's/Dad's Weekend. This past summer, our chapter received the Merit Award at the ZTA International Convention, which ranks us #3 out of 153 chapters and colonies across the nation.

Sigma Alpha Iota

Sigma Alpha Iota, or SAI, is a Women's Music Fraternity. The purposes of this fraternity are to foster interest in music and to promote social contact among persons sharing an interest in music. SAI was founded June 12, 1903 at the University School of Music in Ann Arbor, Michigan. UD's chapter, the Delta Sigma Chapter, was installed December 7th, 1965 as the 145th Chapter.

The chapter gets together periodically as a whole, but these sisters are also friends. Therefore, more often than not, these women can be found together most of the time, hanging out, singing, or playing music.

This year, they played various instruments and sang at the ArtStreet Cafe, painted pottery, and had a formal dance with the Men's Music Fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha.

Life Itself Dance

Life Itself Dance is a unique, fun dance club that introduces student dancers to new dance styles. From belly dance to hip hop, and lyrical/jazz to ballroom and tap, the club offers numerous dance types so everyone can get involved. There are also multiple levels for several of the dance styles so whether you have never tried it before or have danced it for years, all UD dancers can find a class that fits them. The club has two performances every year, one in the fall called Hafla, which is informal and fun, and then a spring Performance at Boll Theater, which is more formal.

This year was a year of firsts for the club. With all of the officers and most of the choreographers graduating the past year, the club had a whole new regime. Since the club is entirely student run from officers to choreographers, the responsibility fell mostly on the capable shoulders of our President, Becky DeAnna. The officers included Julia Faeth, Vice President, Emily Kloos, Treasurer, and Allison Gallucci, Artistic Designer. Becky was also choreographer for lyrical, jazz, and tap. For the first time, Ballroom became a part of LID under the command of our VP, Julia. Beginner and Advanced Hip Hop were led by Lindsie McPhearson. Katie Esselstein instructed Beginner and Advanced Belly Dance, while Danielle Bott took over the Intermediate Belly class. Life Itself Dance has and will continue to provide students with a plethora of opportunities to do what they love ... Dance!

Relay For Life 2011

Relay for Life is an annual event that is held by the University of Dayton's Colleges Against Cancer Program. This is an organization in which student, faculty and staff come together to support the American Cancer Society and the annual relay. The 18 hour walk-a-thon began on April 8th at 3 p.m. and ended at 9 a.m. on the KU Field. There were a total of 549 participants in 56 teams. The top 3 teams to raise money were Psi Kappa Psi with a total of $8,066, School of Law 2011, which raised $3,050 and team Mad Dog which raised a total of $3,005. In total, Relay for Life raised $43,609.96 to give to the American Cancer Society to help cancer patients and their families continue to fight the ongoing battle to beat cancer!

Theta Phi Alpha

Ever Loyal. Ever Lasting. Theta Phi Alpha is a national women's social fraternity and is a member of the National Panhellenic Conference. The mission of Theta Phi Alpha is to create close comradeship, to advance educational, social and philanthropic interests and leadership training; to encourage spiritual development and adherence to the highest moral standards; and to promote lifelong bonds of friendship.

The ladies of Theta Phi develop bonds and relationships that remain strong and unbroken even after they graduate and scatter throughout the country. These lifelong friendships are evident in every interaction these girls have with each other. It is certainly applicable that the ladies call themselves sisters because in so many ways, they are. The sisters are there for each other when one is on top of the world and equally when one sister is in need of support through tough times. Since 1987, these special friendships have developed at UD.

OPPORTUNITY:

FORMING, JOINING CLUBS MARK EASY WAYS TO MAKE DIFFERENCE

American anthropologist and writer Margaret Mead once said, "Never underestimate the power of a small, dedicated group of people to change the world; indeed, that is the only thing that ever has."

Speaking as a cohort of students who pile into a Kennedy Union office several times weekly to put together the most visible entity on campus — next to men's basketball, of course — the Flyer News staff can relate to this statement.

We've also recently observed the power of a few like-minded individuals through the formation of multiple unique student organizations, such as disc golf club and balloon club.

Scroll through the list of student organizations on the university's website and you'll find a spectrum of activities in which even the most obscure interests are represented. Sure, the traditional math club, chess club and Student Government Association are there, but UD also is home to anime society, Pershing rifles and woodwork.

At our campus it's never too late to start a new club; the relatively easy process begins by visiting Student Life and Kennedy Union.

In addition, recognition as an official organization gives students access to opportunities and privileges they may not otherwise have. They can register events and advertise them on the university calendar, receive awards and funding, and use campus facilities. Access to these services makes the difference between a group of friends who like to jam on the weekends, and a classic rock club that could rent university vans for a daytrip to Cleveland's Rock and Roll Hall of Fame Museum.

Being part of a student organization can seem like a lot of work at times. But, as leaders of an established organization will tell you, being able to turn a personal interest into a visible activity that everyone can get involved in is one of the most rewarding aspects of the university experience. And who knows, maybe it can help you change the world along the way.

Maximize:

Students can achieve ideal summer through hard work, creativity, adventure

DAN CLEVELAND / PHOTOGRAPHY

Despite torturous homework and exams chaining students to their desks in this renewed warm weather, they still are smiling more than ever. Everyone knows that soon enough, this weather will be open for the taking with no more silly homework standing in the way. For many, the anticipation of some good of rest and relaxation over the summer is the only remaining motivation to keep working until the school year ends. However, in reality, there is a very thin line between indulging in summer and being totally worthless.

Sounds crazy, right? But think about it. It's important to take an extended break from stress and work, but how many times have you either said or heard someone talking about their plans to be as lazy as possible over the summer? And how many more times does that actually happen? I am just as guilty of wasting summer as the next person, but there's a better way to spend it.

What we need to do is set goals, and plan out our summers. Sure, some of us have jobs and trips already figured out, but usually there's still a good amount of free time waiting to be tapped into. And if we are not careful, there's a good chance that summer will become no more than sleep, Facebook, and sitting in the sun.

Instead, why not get ahead? I'm not just talking about school; I'm talking about life in general.

So, don't just listen to music, pick up an instrument and learn to play something, or go to one of the many great summer music festivals in the Midwest. Don't simply drive to buy ice cream, get on the Internet and find out how to make it yourself. Don't just watch a movie, get outside and go camping under the stars, even if it's only in your backyard.

We usually spend the cold, misererable winter dreaming of the warm summer sun, so why not get out and enjoy it? Get on a bike and find a local bike trail. Get in a car with some friends and take a road trip to the first state you can think of. Take some art classes at your local community college or start a new hobby. Volunteer your time, even if it's only organizing family photos for mom. Read a book — even if that's not your thing — and try to enjoy yourself.

Is this beginning to sound like the all too familiar advice of our parents?

They suggest these things for a reason. It's not overachieving; it's being smart and making the most of life. Think of it as free time to diversify your interests, get ahead and make the next few months worth talking about for years to come. Because if you think about it, what a waste of our time it would be if we truly did nothing productive with our summers. Do we really want to return from our summer vacations with nothing more than a tan and a bigger beer gut to be proud of?

Word on the street...

What are your plans for the summer?

UD RANKED AMONG NATION'S BEST SCHOOLS

ANNA BEYERLE

News Editor

With the recent release of two prominent college surveys, the University of Dayton seems to be flying high above the rest.

UD was ranked as the 90th best university in the United States by U.S. News & World Report, a magazine renowned for its annual "America's Best Colleges" issue. The university jumped 11 spots from its ranking as 110th last year and also placed 59th among private institutions and as the 8th best Catholic university in the U.S.

"We've been trying to continue to get the university's name out there to build our academic reputation, and they've acknowledged what we're doing," said Dr. Daniel Curran, UD's president. "There are thousands of universities in the United States, and for them to say at a national level that we are in the top 100, even the top 60 of private universities, which includes schools like Harvard and Stanford, is very, very important."

U.S. News & World Report's 2011 edition, which was released Aug. 18, 2010, did award the way universities were ranked, according to Curran. The publication's new places more emphasis on graduation and retention rates, two categories in which UD placed strongly.

"The combination of those two things ... is a continued emphasis for the university," Curran said. "It says a lot about our faculty and the quality of our students."

Curran also cited the university's recent hiring of many established professors and other faculty members in the recent years as a reason for UD's success.

UD also has been honored by several other publications for its academic reputation. Forbes.com placed the Flyers among the top 15 percent of four-year institutions in the U.S., while the college admission book "Acceptance" placed UD among the top 40 in the nation. According to a university press release, Washington Monthly, a magazine offering a college guide recently heralded the university for its service-oriented atmosphere, placing it among the top 100 schools that give back to the community.

The Princeton Review, an academic consulting company that publishes "The Best 271 Colleges" each year also honored UD in its 2011 edition, released in early August 2010. Besides being placed among the best universities in the nation, UD also ranked in five of The Princeton Review's top 20 categories.

For the first time, The Princeton Review considered UD to have the "Best Quality of Life" and said the "School Name Like Butter," referring to the efficiency under which the university operates.

UD also was categorized as having a top 20 "Easiest Campus to Get Around," instituting a program where "Everybody Plays Intramural Sports" and the "Happy Students."

"Most important is having the happiest students," Curran said. "All these things are intertwined; we worked hard to provide services over the years."

According to Curran, the university's merits are owed to the one thing UD students and faculty constantly advocate: community.

"Distinctions between academics, faculty and staff are very important and are as good as they can be," Curran said. "It's all an outgrowth of our emphasis on community."

Before coming to UD, they are embracing the university setting and are getting to know one another through their shared experiences.

Math Club/Pi Mu Epsilon

Math Club is an academic student organization on campus that was developed in order to create a community of students interested in mathematics. Every year, Math Club hosts a picnic where students and faculty mingle and get to know each other outside the classroom. Math Club also conducts a High School Math Competition for local high school students to come and show off their mathematical abilities. Members meet every week to enjoy free pizza and discussions on various math topics as well as opportunities for future study.

Pi Mu Epsilon is a Mathematics Honors Society that meets in conjunction with Math Club each week and participates in the Math Club activities as well. Students must meet certain requirements to be inducted into Pi Mu Epsilon. Induction is held in the Spring of each year where current members, new inductees and faculty get together to celebrate mathematics.

NAACP

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was founded in 1909. The reason why NAACP was started was to encourage equal rights for minority people throughout the United States. NAACP's Youth and College Division started a chapter at the University of Dayton in 2003. Along with the promotion of racial equality, the University of Dayton chapter has made it a point to promote equality and safety of all persons on campus. They also promote community service to the greater Dayton community and stress the importance of education. Our programming for this year included our National Freedom Fund Dinner, during which students, faculty, and members of the community come together to eat dinner and share about the issues that are taking place on campus and in surrounding communities. It is also a national incentive to raise money and give a donation to a non-profit organizations in need. In addition to the Freedom Fund Dinner, the UD chapter has also made it a point to start our own tradition by catering to college students. We do this by having programs such as study tables to provide students with help on homework and a quiet place to study, and by holding forums that have topic that span multiple areas of interest for college students, such as health in college, relationships, time management and stress management. Most importantly for the University of Dayton chapter is the opportunity we have to give back to children in the Dayton Community. NAACP has created special bonds with after-school centers such as the Welsey Center, where we often come on weekdays and weekends throughout the school year to serve as mentors to children of all ages and backgrounds. We help the children with everything from homework to issues as home or school. We also expose the children to the importance of community service.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

MOVING in...

For many students, moving in is a big ordeal. For first-years, there is the thrill of becoming independent for the first time.

For sophomores, it is the excitement of having a kitchen for the first time in Campus South or your own lounge in VWK. For juniors and seniors, you finally have your own abode! No matter where you live while on campus, as noted by Kate O'Hara life at UD has "always been as friendly as it was as a freshman. It seems to have gotten better as the years have gone on and one can receive that feeling of community even throughout all 4 years."

Stuart Complex

Stuart Complex has changed drastically over the past couple of years. Many people in the class of 2011 have mentioned slight jealousy towards the amazing transformation. Despite the improved "Stu's Landing" and upgraded study areas, as well as other renovations, students of all years share many similar memories. It may be the best friends that were made in the coziness of the 7' x 17' rooms, the satisfaction of being a "rebel" and sliding down Stuart Hill in ways unheard of, the amazing figure created just from walking up the hill, or the beautiful view of campus and feeling of ease upon reaching home. Whatever the case may be, and whatever changes made, Stuart will remain a favorite amongst res-halls at UD, filled with memories that are sure to last a lifetime.

The new lounge of Stuart, upgraded with a nice fireplace and nice area to eat, play games, or do homework

The new front desk of Stuart

Marycrest

Marycrest has also been cited as a first-year favorite. Thanks to the renovations on KU Field, Marycrest offers breath-taking views of campus.

Favorite memories of "The Crest" include having the little kids "trick-or-treat," access to the delicious cafeteria food, running into friends on Saturday morning after a long week, and just having a good time with friends.

Founders

Founders Hall hasn't seen the kind of change other residence halls have in the past four years. Sure, window air conditioners have been added to help cool the building, but there are still elevator problems, wide hallways that turn into sports arenas, a lack of personal living space, and a great location in the heart of campus. Students who've lived in Founders look back fondly on the two minute walk to classes, the "close knit" community, and the time spent in the parking lot during the numerous fire drills!!

Above and to the

Marianist

With all the newly-renovated first-year residences, we may be one of the last classes to remember Marianist as "The Hotel." Living in Marianist as a first-year means living in luxury; the chapel, the Empo, the study space, the bookstore, and of course; the residential life. Some of the great memories include the luxury of Bellaricos's pizza for saturday morning breakfast and the convenience of the RecPlex. No matter what the reason, students look back on their life in the hotel with great fondness.

Interview with Katie Heaphy

What's your favorite memory at UD?

-Decorating the residence halls for the kids who came trick-or-treating.

-Having your best friends living down the hall and being able to see them whenever I wanted to.

What changes have you seen on UD's campus during your college experience?

-KU field has been completely re-done.

-One thing we're not allowed to do anymore; there used to be big signs that counted down how many days till Christmas on Campus in the windows of the SGA office in KU.

-Renovations of Stuart (2 years after I moved out, of course!)

What was your favorite place to live?

- Campus South, right in the middle of the student neighborhood, and as a sophomore it was so nice to have my own kitchen. We also had the best view from our window and in my bed room of 9C.

What was your favorite memory at UD?

-Junior year, Christmas on Campus, being a part of it, seeing it all in full, after the work we all put into it.

Interview with Corinne O'Grady

What's your favorite memory at UD?

-Having the little kids go trick-or-treating through the dorms

What changes have you seen on UD's campus during your college experience?

-The appearance of the dorms

You've lived in 4 different communities throughout UD, what have you learned and what do you plan on taking with you?

-Community is important no matter where you live, you should always reach out and embrace the community that you live in.

Favorite year and why?

-Senior year, I think it just keeps getting better every year!

Favorite memory from all 4 years?

-Every weekend from all 4 years that I get to spend with my friends.

Interview with Eileen Sweeney

What was your favorite memory in your first residence hall?

Taking a bag down to Founders from Stuart every weekend and sleeping on my friend's floor 'cause I never wanted to go back up the hill alone at night.

What changes have you seen on UD's campus during your college experience?

Stricter rules in the halls. Getting rid of all-you-can-eat at VWK, no more brunch in VWK, Stuart's lobby and Marycrest's lobby were remodeled.

Where was your favorite place to live?

230 Kiefaber, love all of my roomies Shelby, Carly, Brooke and Marie. We used to play Super Nintendo, but the TV broke so those memories are gone. But we were super close to Tim's and Milano's which is extra convenient.

What is your favorite Memory at UD?

Sophomore year when my friend and I lived in VWK and would eat together nearly every night at the same round table in the VWK dining hall at 5pm. One time Susan, the cashier, reserved it for us so it wasn't taken from us on a special dinner night. We would spend hours sitting at that table recapping our weekends during the all you can eat breakfast buffet on Sunday mornings.

AS: Cut backs on fun overall.

EH: they changed the practice field into tennis courts then back to a field then to tennis courts again. Why?

Do you have any house sayings or nick names for each other?

Women's Soccer

Atlantic-10 Champs-NCAA second round

Dayton Women's Soccer finished their season 18-1. Throughout the season, students sat on the hill to watch them play hard and win game after game. The women gained national recognition after winning their 7th Championship in the Atlantic-10 Tournament.

On November 14th, Dayton's participation in the NCAA tournament ended. Pictured right is Dayton v. Ohio State in the second round of the tournament. The ladies played their best but did not get to continue.

Standout Player

Colleen Williams, right, a sophomore forward, was named for the Women's Soccer NCAA Division 1 All-America Team. This season, Williams had a total of 48 points, 18 goals, 12 assists and 7 game winning points.

Pictured above is a standout diving header, more commonly known as a head bunt. Players don't find these passes any more difficult than the normal kick, yet regular soccer watchers at Baujan Field don't see diving headers too often.

Below, Alexis Garcia, sophomore midfield/ forward, was named the most outstanding player of the Atlantic 10. Another exceptional player, Kathleen Beljan, was named to the Women's soccer Herman Trophy Watch List. This recognition is the highest individual honor in intercollegiate soccer. This is very exciting for both Beljan and the University of Dayton.

"Our 2010 team motto was 'Inches.' In every game there will be plays that success or failure is determined by mere inches. Our challenge was to be totally prepared, focused and confident so that when those 'inches' opportunities presented themselves we were ready. And if we were ready and won the "inches" opportunities, we would win the game! In 2010 we won the "inches" opportunities." Coach Chamberlin

Dayton Flyers football season was full of success and incredible stories. The team ended with a 10-1 record and won the PFL title. This is the team's 11th title win in their 18 year history of the league.

Ross Fumagalli, senior linebacker, was asked to reminisce his favorite moment of the season. "Down by one point with only a few seconds before time was going to expire, Steve Valentino passed for the win. The following week, we beat Marist in double overtime to win the [PFL] Title. Those two back-to-back wins created such an adrenaline rush."

Kenton Frobe, senior kicker/punter, says, "The best part about the win against Drake was that the final play made it onto ESPN's Top Ten Plays for the weekend and we came in at number six. It was so thrilling."

"I am extremely pleased with the way the season ended. We won our 10 team conference 8-0 and ended the season ranked 23rd in the nation in the FCS."- Devon Langhorst, Senior Defensive End

"It's only the third time in school history the Flyers have been nationally ranked in football; the other two times were in 1989 and 2002" - Dan Vohden, Flyer News, 12/3/2010

The Rivers Institute

Senior Stews

Our Mission

The University of Dayton Rivers Institute builds opportunities for the Dayton Community to see our rivers as the strategic natural resource central to the communal, economic, aesthetic and ecological vitality of the region.

"The River Stewards is great because I have met a wonderful group of peers. We are all from different regions of the country, have different political views, and have different friend networks, but we are brought together by our common interest in the health of the Great Miami River watershed, Dayton, and the Earth"

I thought that the river trip was an amazing experience. It was nice to learn about the engineering perspective of the water way, and the effects that it has on the citizens, as well as the environment. I look forward to learning more about the crucial role of the river on society and its effects on the economic statistics of a population.

We care enough to make a difference, and we want to work to make the rivers better. I am very excited for all that is to come when working with these great people!"

-Sarah Peterson

"I absolutely love the recreation part of River Stewards, so I am very excited for more of that fun! I am also looking forward to seeing our group really come together to learn from each other, with all our differing majors, interests, and hopes for the Rivers Institute."

-Maggie Mckenna

Sarah kayaking on the Miami River with the River Stewards

Favorite thing: I guess my favorite thing would be getting to be outside. It's tempting to go through college and only go outside to walk to class, but now I get to spend more time outside doing worthwhile things.

How Has UD Changed You?

"What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us"

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

In the years building up to Senior year, so much can change! UD becomes your home, not just the university you chose way back when in high school. Your friends here become your family, not just strangers you met four years ago. Your major becomes your career, your life passion. So much can change, but you still remain true to yourself. How have you changed since Freshman year?

"UD provided me with the environment that I needed to grow physically, mentally, and spiritually as a person and inspired me to achieve higher dreams than I ever thought possible for myself. UD helped me realize that I should never be afraid to speak up and use the power of my voice because silence in the face of injustice is acquiescence. " -Andrea Hennel

UD has definitely changed me for the better. I have made so many friends, connections and certainly memories! I would not be the same person today if I hadn't chosen to come to UD, and I definitely don't regret it! I am really going to miss the people and community at UD when I graduate. People say it's the best 4 years of your life, and I have to agree with them! Man oh man, time flies!

-Marci Hankins

"It allowed me to expand in my major and made me realize how important it is to surround yourself with people that appreciate you."

We've given captions for some pages, and you can create your own on others! We hope you make the most of this personalized section of your yearbook!!

Note:

Some digital pictures print 4"X6", while others are cropped to 4"X5.3". Either size will fit in this section of the book; we've made the lines small enough to accommodate the smaller size, but left enough space to fit a full 4"x6".

MARIE ROHLKE

Editor

Here is a little bit about myself.

My name is Marie Rohlke. I am a fifth year senior at UD, and I am originally from Cleveland, OH. I have worked on the yearbook for the past two years. This is my first year working with a yearbook staff as the Student Life Editor. I am a Visual Communication Design major and I am getting a minor in Marketing. I work at Dayton Children's Hospital and am an intern there working in the marketing and communications department. I enjoy playing intramural sports and working on outside design projects in my spare time. I wanted to join the yearbook staff because I love to design, and I enjoyed working on the yearbook staff in high school. I hope to work on next years yearbook to make it even better than this years!

of 2011!

Senior Section and Story Editor

Jill Pajka

I'm Jill and I was the Senior Section/Story Editor of the Daytonian this year. Originally from Lima, Ohio, I'm currently a sophomore at UD majoring in English and Visual Arts. I love writing, mint chocolate chip ice cream and traveling to new places. I hope to eventually go to graduate school abroad after graduation in two years.

I really loved working with the senior class and the fellow yearbook staff on the book this year. Working as the Senior Section Editor gave me a whole new outlook on the story of each student's experience at the University of Dayton, from the early days of freshmen move-in to bittersweet graduation day. I was thrilled to meet and learn from a variety of wise seniors who, although a tad sad about having to leave their four-year home, were excited to spill the memories and experiences they'd had here along the way.

Danielle Bott

Assistant Editor

I am a Junior Mathematics and Adolescent to Young Adult Education double major. I am a Belly Dance choreographer/instructor for Life Itself Dance and I was elected to be Pi Mu Epsilon President next year. I am currently working on my Honors Thesis about gifted girls in mathematics. I enjoy dancing, reading, hanging out with friends and family, and watching my brother play football. During the school year, I work for the mathematics department as a teaching assistant and tutor. My favorite thing about UD is all the friends I have made!

Jasmine Henderson

Assistant Editor

I am a Junior here at the University, majoring in wonderful Psychology! I am actively involved in three organizations around campus: Solidarity (Advocacy Chair), NAACP (Vice President) and Active Minds (Bands Chair).

Aside from work and school activities, I love being with my family and friends, working out, cracking jokes and reading, dancing, shopping, going to UDAD events, being random (which I'm probably the best at!) and doing community service. My plans for my upcoming senior year that I am especially looking forward to is throwing another awesome M-fest for Active Minds (since I am now bands chair!) and writing my senior thesis with the aid of Dr. Leslie Picca about Urban Education and Urban Public Heath!

See you around campus, and to all the recent grads, we miss you already!
