University of Dayton's first Spring Festival Week will begin Wednesday, Robert Saunders, president of the sponsoring Student Council, announced Saturday.

Continuing through Sunday, the festival will open with a jazz concert by the famed "Crew Cuts" in the fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Featured with that quartet will be Cy Touff's Dixieland band. Some 5,000 tickets for students, faculty and friends will be distributed.

Athletic events will be held Thursday. Being Ascension Thursday, a holy day, there will be no classes and activities will continue through the day. Track and field programs, starting at 9 a.m. in the stadium, will be the highlight with campus organizations competing for a student council trophy. The day also will feature an exhibition game by the U.D. soccer team.

Friday has been designated "Arts and Sciences Day" and will feature cultural exhibits on display in Wohlleben Hall. Tours of that new building also will be offered.

The formal Senior Farewell dance will be held at Wampler's Ballarina Saturday night. Theme will be "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," and the Clyde Trask orchestra will provide the music.

Spring Festival Week will close on a religious note Sunday with students taking part in a living Rosary procession from the campus chapel to the statue of the Immaculate Conception in front of St. Mary's Hall.

The public is invited to all festival week events except the jazz concert. This event, because of space limitations will be for the University community only.
