SPECIAL TO THE DAYTON JEWISH CHRONICLE

CONGRESSMAN CHARLES W. WHALEN, JR., of Dayton (right), addresses rabbinical students from the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion of Cincinnati and New York during a visit to Capitol Hill by the group on Tuesday, March 19. Whalen discussed the Negative Income Tax concept with the students in a committee room of the Longworth House Office Building. The group spend five days in Washington as part of a program that the college conducts in conjunction with the Religious Action Center of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. It is designed to acquaint the students with current social issues. They also visited various government agencies and met with other Members of Congress. The group of ~~18~~ included 17 students from the college's Cincinnati campus. (Two women visible in the photo are wives of two of the students).
