On October 6 many students will head home for fall break only to be bored and still put their homework off until Sunday night; but, fifty UD students will experience something different – they will be a part of the REAL Dayton. REAL stands for Reaching out, Enriching yourself, Acting for others, and Learning about Dayton. This campus ministry program combines service projects, discussion, prayer, reflection, fellowship, and fun into a weekend that just might turn your perception of the city of Dayton upside down. Participants will discover and enjoy Dayton neighborhoods, cultural sites, recreation spots, and other assets. They will meet Dayton residents, leaders, and organizations through service opportunities and discussions. Understand Dayton as a community and begin to see your role as community members in Dayton or any place you call home.

REAL Dayton is during Fall Break, takes place off campus, is an incredible and fulfilling service opportunity, a great chance to build friendships, and a fun way to discover all Dayton has to offer.

Interested students visit the Center for Social Concern at: www.udayton.edu/ministry/csc/REAL_Dayton.php. Registration ends September 17. Contact Kelly Bohrer if you have any questions. Also, if you are not a student but would like to be involved or support the program, please contact the Center for Social Concern at 229-2524 or Kelly.Bohrer@notes.udayton.edu
