SO WHAT'S AN UGGM?

UGGM is shorthand for UnderGraduate Music Minister. UGGM's are rising Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors who are trained to choose and lead the music for the various masses on Campus: in the Immaculate Conception Chapel, the residence halls and the McGinnis Center. They also provide music for large campus liturgies (NSO Welcome Mass, Family Weekend Mass, December 8th and the winter and spring Baccalaureate masses as well as special liturgies throughout the year.) Beyond campus the UGGM's have the opportunity to minister to the wider church through participation in Archdiocesan events and prison ministry at the Lebanon Correctional Facility.

New students accepted into our program take a mini-course, Liturgy for Pastoral Musicians their first semester in the program and thereafter newbies and veterans alike take additional mini-courses of a more hands on nature. This semester’s Practicum course includes sessions on accompanying the assembly, peer reviews of liturgical music and more. This past Spring the UGGM’s learned the ins and outs of producing a quality worship aid. Over time these worship aids will allow us to use a broader repertoire than is available in our hymnals.

UGGM’s are more than talented volunteers. They receive stipends for their work. Some go on to a career in music ministry. If you are a singer or musician and desire to explore your faith more deeply through music leadership for the 2011-2012 academic year, applications and more information are available from Jim Pera at James.Pera@notes.udayton.edu, 229-2052, Liberty Hall, Rm. 210 or from the Campus Ministry Main Office.
