Journey Towards Awareness

Jesus reveals himself as the Son of God when he heals the blind man in today’s Gospel.

Consider the ways you may experience the presence of God in your life. Perhaps it is through a relationship, a transformative service experience, a prayer, a glimmer of hope in a challenging situation, a special connection to nature, an experience of gratitude or deep love. These and other encounters are important to us, especially when we remain attentive to remember who they point to—God.

It can be too easy though to walk through everyday unaware of the ways God is revealed to us. Some days we can be too much like Pharisees, unable to trust that God is revealed through extraordinary and ordinary means. Our lack of awareness is our blindness.

The man born blind is an example to us of one who, whether he understands how or not, is able to proclaim that something amazing has happened to him through Jesus. Jesus helps the man see. His faith helps him proclaim that his new found sight points to Jesus as the Son of God.

As we continue our Lenten journey, we take note of the ways we need Jesus to heal our “eyes” — those things that keep us unaware of God’s work in our life. May our faith keep us aware of God’s presence with us each day — that we too might join the man born blind in proclaiming our belief in Jesus as the Son of God.
