Processing the Sophomore Transition

One possible origin of the word sophomore involves a compound of the Greek words sophos meaning "wise" and mos meaning "foolish, dull." As paradoxical and silly as it sounds, I happen to believe the latter is correct simply because sophomores seem to experience the tension between having navigated their first-year as college students and yet feeling overwhelmed by so many unanswered questions. Sophomore year is filled with challenges to our faith in God, our own identity, and contradictions to our morality we are often not prepared to face. When asking others about their experiences they always used the same phrases: "it was probably one of the most difficult years," "I didn't know what I wanted to do anymore," "so much changed in my friend group," "I felt lost." Many of you reading this may be nodding in agreement because you are beginning to feel those things right now. You might feel like you're standing at the bottom of a colossal mountain and in your fear you have no safety equipment to hold you.

Sophomore Journey Groups are small faith groups designed by Campus Ministry to be that safety equipment. These groups provide sophomores a safe space to examine differences between their first and second years in college, share the values they hold most dear, and how those values relate to who they are, and who they could become.

The groups will begin meeting October 2 and continue into mid-November. If you are a sophomore and are interested in this experience, please apply at https://www.udayton.edu/ministry/faith-communities/sophomore\_journey\_groups.php.
