"What we would like to do is change the world- make it a little simpler for people to feed, clothe, and shelter themselves as God intended for them to do." -Dorothy Day

The beginning of November marks the start of Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Month. This year, we have taken inspiration from Dorothy Day, and her book, The Long Loneliness. Day was a starter. She was a connector. She was an activist. We hope to do the same. We want to start getting closer to issues of Hunger and Homelessness, and start making the world a more just place. We want to connect with people from all walks of life, to get a clearer picture of their journeys through life. And we want to stand up against injustice through social activism.

These goals are lofty to accomplish in a month. But our hope is that this can be an entry point. This experience of devoting a whole month to issues surrounding hunger and homelessness can inspire us to go deeper the other 11 months out of the year; prayerfully accepting the challenges and beauty that comes with a life devoted to making this beautiful world we share a "little simpler for people to feed, clothe, and shelter themselves as God intended for them to do."

-Meaghan Crowley
