Growing Reputation

'U.S. News & World Report' has ranked 10 University of Dayton graduate programs among the best in the nation in its latest rankings.

Online programs lead the way with the School of Education and Health Sciences' programs tied for 15th nationally and School of Engineering's programs tied for 53rd.

The engineering and education schools are also ranked, tied for 56th and 101st, respectively. That places both in nearly the top quarter of all schools surveyed.

Three engineering disciplines — aerospace, mechanical and electrical — are ranked. Aerospace and mechanical are among the top half of schools surveyed.

The University's doctorate in physical therapy and master's in public administration programs also are ranked.
