Call for Papers

The Basic Communication Course Annual is inviting submissions for its 8th edition. The Annual is published nationally by American Press (Boston) and all of its articles are indexed in their entirety in the ERIC database. Manuscripts concerned with basic communication course research and pedagogy are invited. Priority consideration will be given to manuscripts received by January 15 (submissions for subsequent editions are reviewed throughout the year).

Each submission is blindly reviewed by at least three members of the editorial board. Submit four copies, including: a 75-100 word abstract and a separate author identification paragraph following the format of the Annual. Remove author identification information from the text of your submission. Manuscripts must conform to current APA guidelines.
