The success of their Bob Hope show still with them, the University of Dayton's student council is now making final plans for their spring festival jazz show. The students are bringing the Hi-Lo's and the Dave Brubeck Quartet for an 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 18, appearance in the fieldhouse.

Both groups have for the past several years won or placed close to the top in almost every recognized jazz poll.

This is the third in the series of annual jazz shows the U.D. group has sponsored. Their first attempt was with the Crew-Cuts; last year they had Stan Kenton.

All seats will be two dollars and tickets are available at the U.D. ticket office, Central Ticket Office in downtown Dayton, and at Dayton area record shops.
