DAYTON, Ohio, July, 1966 — The Missing Link is back—for the third time. The summer students at the University of Dayton, who have presented two previous Coffee House programs to overflowing crowds on the Roof Terrace of the John F. Kennedy Union, now present "Cultural Dropouts" with Mother Patricia Barrett and Dr. Mary Jo Huth, Chairman of the Sociology Department, as discussion leaders on Monday, July 11.

Previous two themes of the Coffee House series were "God Is Dead" and "Anxiety" with UD professors leading the discussions for students.

Mother Barrett, who is a noted author and attended the Vatican Council as an observer, is teaching political science at the University this summer. She is a member of the Madames of the Sacred Heart religious order.

The program, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will have professional entertainment from the Alley Door, a similar downtown discussion club.

DAYTON, Ohio, July, 1966 — Dr. Con J. Fecher, whose research projects concerning nuns are known internationally, will present his five-year Morbidity Survey of 30,000 nuns in the United States before the annual Conference of Major Superiors of Women in Milwaukee in August. His research deals with acute and chronic disabilities of nuns.

His findings on the Abdominal Surgery in Nuns will be given in September before the American Society of Abdominal Surgeons in September. Dr. Fecher, who is on a leave of absence from the University, has conducted the surveys through grants from UD's Research Institute. All research material has been computed through UD's electronic computers.
