DAYTON, Ohio, September 29, 1966 — Nine special courses will be offered by the Special Sessions Department at the University of Dayton during the month of October, Miss Nora Duffy, Director, announced today.

Beginning next week are Elements of Metallurgy, Monday, October 3, and Effective Speaking, Tuesday. The former course, announced in September, is co-sponsored by the Dayton Chapter, American Society of Metals, and runs 17 sessions. It will be taught by Lt. Col. Edward J. Myers, PhD., of the Air Force Institute of Technology. Effective Speaking, which is 10 consecutive Tuesdays, will be handled by Mr. Noris Johnston of the Toastmasters International and International Platform Associates.

Five programs will begin during the week of Monday, October 17. Understanding Children, a course to aid parents in understanding children's behavior, will be taught by Dr. Thomas C. Campanelle of UD, will start the 17th and run 10 Monday sessions. The following night an eight-week course, Real Estate Law, will begin with attorney James E. Cross as instructor.

Two courses, Enjoying the New Mathematics, and Investment Workshop, will begin Wednesday, October 19. The mathematics offering, taught by Dr. John O'Donnell of the University, will embrace the meaning of the revolutionary developments in the world of Mathematics. Mr. Stephen Kuflewski will handle the investment program which will take a basic approach to everyday investment problems.

Human Relations, starting October 20 and running eight 2 1/2 hour sessions, is primarily for the first-line supervisor and is an effort to develop his skills in solving human relations problems.

During the last week of October, a Problems in Supervision seminar and a course in Managerial Effectiveness will be offered. The seminar starts October 24 and is eight sessions while the managerial course opens the following night and will be conducted for seven Tuesdays. This course is designed for self-analysis by the participating managers and covers eight areas with which executives must cope.
