DAYTON, Ohio, October 19, 1966 --- Four additional Religion in Life programs have been scheduled for October and November, Joseph Brown, the series director, announced today. The programs, three of which will be conducted at the University of Dayton's John F. Kennedy Union, have the general title, "The Church in the Modern World", and include lectures by one medical doctor, the director of the Divinity School at Harvard, a lay Catholic theologian and a Catholic priest.

The medical man, Dr. John G. Boutselis from the Ohio State University Medical Center, will open this portion of the series Wednesday, October 26, speaking on "Rhythm--Past, Present and Future". Dr. Boutselis has developed a drug, given in pill form, which has the ability to influence or stimulate ovulation. His talk will take place at 8 P.M. in UD's Kennedy Ballroom.

The second speaker will be Rev. Dr. Harvey Cox, Director of the Harvard University Divinity School and author of the controversial book, "Secular City." Dr. Cox is under the joint sponsorship of Wright State University, Antioch College, United Theological Seminary and UD. He will make private appearances at each institution in a two-day period. His talk will be held at Westminster Presbyterian Church Thursday, November 3, at 8 P.M. The lecture is entitled "A New Earth".

Mr. Thomas Martin of UD's Theology Department will continue the Series at UD on Thursday, November 10, with a discussion, "A Modern Theology of Sin", at 8 P.M. in the Kennedy Union ballroom.

The final talk in this phase of the Series will be given by Rev. Philip Berrigan, S.S.J., of Baltimore who will speak on "The Modern Church and Peace". Father Berrigan, who has been outspoken on Vietnam, interracial justice and America's war on poverty, will discuss the church's role in working toward peace. He has appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the morality of the Vietnam War. His talk is Thursday, November 17, at 8 P.M. in the Kennedy Union Little Theater.
