DAYTON, Ohio, July 5, 1967 --- Mr. Robert Kriegbaum of the Accounting Department, University of Dayton, has announced the faculty for his seventh annual Business Systems and Data Processing Workshop on the University campus, July 10 to July 28.

The workshop is a specially designed program for business education teachers and administrators on the high school or college level. The program will familiarize the participants with modern data processing concepts, techniques, and equipment.

The eleven members of the faculty include executives from educational, governmental and business institutions. Five are from the Dayton area. They are Col. L. A. Boatright, a specialist in the data processing field at the AFLC Data Center, Wright Patterson Air Force Base; Mr. Thomas F. Wade, Manager, Executive and Professional Placement, National Cash Register Company; Mr. J. W. Griffith, Supervisor, Personnel Placement, Standard Register Company; Mr. W. R. Klekamp, Systems Engineering Manager, IBM; and Mr. Richard O. Brinkman, Superintendent, Springfield and Clark County Board of Education,

Mr. John C. Roman, Supervisor of Business and Distributive Education, Public Schools, and Mr. Donald G. Pepper of Fifth Third Union Trust Company are coming from Cincinnati. Others are Mr. Paul Pair, Vice President, Business Automation Institute; Mr. Frank R. Knox, President, Frank Knox Associates, New York; Mr. Joseph W. Hines, Assistant Regional Director, Manpower Employment and Statistics, United States Department of Labor, Cleveland; and Mr. Robert D. Balthaser, Supervisor of Business Education, State of Ohio, Department of Education, in Columbus.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the State of Ohio, Department of Education, in Columbus and UD's School of Education.
