DAYTON, Ohio, August 24, 1967 --- Four new women professors will join the Department of Health & Physical Education at the University of Dayton this fall. The four are Maryalyee Jeremiah of Xenia, Alberta Weingart of Dayton, Nancy Sherwood of Springfield, and Barbara Marie Balata of Cleveland.

Miss Weingart, who lives at 209 Notre Dame Avenue, joins the staff after receiving training as a registered nurse at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, her bachelor of science in nursing at Loyola University of Chicago, and a bachelor of science in education degree, majoring in biological science from Ohio State University this spring.

Miss Balata, who will live in Kettering, is a 1965 graduate of Bowling Green State University. She received her masters in health and physical education from Northwestern University in 1966 and served as a graduate assistant at Northwestern in 1966. She also taught in the Maumee City school last school year.

Miss Sherwood, who received two degrees at Wittenberg University, has been teaching at Hayward Junior High School in Springfield. She received her bachelor of science in education degree in 1956 and her masters in guidance and counseling in 1962. She will handle the women's freshman basketball team at UD.

Miss Jeremiah, who was born in Toledo, has a bachelor of arts degree from Cedarville College in health and physical education, a bachelor of science in education degree. She is currently taking work for her masters degree on a partime basis at Ohio State University.
