DAYTON, Ohio, March 26, 1968 --- Joseph R. Fodal, son of Mrs. Phyllis Fodal of 37 Miller Avenue, Fairborn, Ohio, and a political science major at the University of Dayton, will represent his school this weekend in the finals of the National Inter-collegiate Bowling Championships of the Association of College Unions. Fodal was picked in Region VII (Ohio-Michigan) with Dave Howe of Baldwin Wallace and will roll in the matches March 30-31 and April 1 at the new Cincinnati Convention-Exposition Center in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Fodal and Howe are two of 16 college men who will participate for the All-Events championship. The 16 men will represent 200 colleges and 14,000 college bowlers in the tournament. Team events also will take place during the championship weekend. Fodal and Howe must compete in the singles and doubles competition and the bowler who maintains the highest average for the two events will be named All-Events champion. The winner will receive the Morehead Patterson Award, named after the late chairman of the American Machine & Foundry Company.

More than 1,000 bowlers rolled in the Region VII finals a month ago in the University of Cincinnati student union. Howe completed the nine games with 1861 while Fodal had 1852. Because his average was above several other regional champions, Fodal was picked to compete with Howe in Region VII. Fodal has been bowling for the past 10 years, principally at the Fairlanes in Fairborn. A senior, Fodal will graduate this April.
