DAYTON, Ohio, August 4, 1970 — Richard C. McCauley, assistant dean of men at the University of Dayton since August, 1968, has been elevated to the newly-created position of Assistant Dean of Students, Miss Margaret Holland, UD's Dean of Students, announced today. Mr. McCauley, who is a graduate of Gettysburg College, will assume his duties immediately.

Mr. McCauley, who is a native of Tarrytown, New York, came to the University of Dayton following his graduation with a master's degree in higher education from Florida State University. His bachelor's degree had been in sociology and anthropology from Gettysburg in 1967. He also graduated from Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pennsylvania, in 1963 and attended the International School of Geneva, Switzerland, for two years, 1959-1961.

Mr. McCauley, who was born September 10, 1945, and is single, also serves as Foreign Student Advisor and has been a member of the Plan for the Seventies and University Arts Series committees at UD.

He is a member of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, the American Association for Higher Education, and is President of Zeta Sigma Alumni Association of Sigma Nu.
