DAYTON, Ohio, March 26, 1971 --- Clyde Wisch, director of the University of Dayton Kennedy Union, has been selected as the professional development coordinator for Region 7 of the Association of College Unions International. The appointment was announced recently by John Wong, Association vice-president for regional affairs.

Mr. Wisch's duties as regional coordinator will be to serve as a liaison between the Association's professional development committee and the Association's member institutions in Michigan, Ohio and portions of Ontario, Canada.

Membership in the Association of College Unions International consists of approximately 900 colleges and universities in many parts of the world, particularly in the U.S., Canada and Australia.

Founded in 1914 by student and staff representatives from seven mid-west colleges, the purpose of ACU-I is to provide an opportunity for college unions to join in studying and improving their services and program of activities. The Association also assists in the development of new college unions.

ACU-I is one of the oldest intercollegiate associations in higher education and the only major educational organization committed to a student-staff partnership through student participation internationally, regionally and on individual campuses.
