DAYTON, Ohio, February 28, 1972 --- The University of Dayton's Continuing Education will be sponsoring three seminars, March through April.

"Psychology of Parent/Child Relations" will begin March 16, and will run for eight consecutive Thursday evenings.

This course is intended for parents of children up to the age of twelve. Each participant will hopefully gain some understanding of the consequences of different parent practices. It is strongly recommended that both parents participate in the course.

The Sixth Annual Seminar on "Effective Purchasing Management" will run Thursday evenings from March 2 until April 6. Some of the topics to be covered in this lecture series are "Recent Trends in Purchasing," "Management and Quality Control in Purchasing," and "Can You Purchase Motivation."

On Wednesday evenings, starting March 8, UD's Annual Investment Workshop will be held. Course director will be Donald Schade, of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. The workshop will consist of a basic approach to everyday investment problems. Participants are encouraged to bring their own investment problems in for discussion. The workshop will continue for nine sessions.
