DAYTON, Ohio, October 16, 1972 --- Three programs, Management for First Line Supervisors, and Metallurgy of Welding and Joining, and Powder Metallurgy, will be starting in the next seven days under the sponsorship of the University of Dayton's Special Sessions Department.

The management program, which will run eight sessions on Thursday evenings, starts this Thursday, October 19, with Dr. James Buckenmyer of UD's Department of Business Management as the instructor. The class starts at 7:30 P.M. and runs to 10 P.M. each Thursday in room 310 of the Kennedy Union.

Dr. Buckenmyer will discuss understanding and working with staff, general foreman, superintendents and other management people; planning and organization for first line supervisors; complaints and grievances - labor relations; the position of first line supervisors; problem solving - decision making; training the employee; employee rating and control. Fee is $55.

Three men from Hobart Bros. Inc., Mr. Howard Gary, Vice President, Welding Systems; Mr. James Hannahs, Welding Engineer; and Mr. Wade Taylor, Welding Engineer, will serve as instructors for the course on Metallurgy of Welding and Joining while Mr. George Lucas, Senior Project Engineer, Delco Moraine, will conduct the Powder Metallurgy course. The latter will run on 17 Mondays from 7 to 8:45 P.M., starting on Monday, October 23 in room 331, Kennedy Union while the former on welding and joining will be conducted for 17 sessions starting on Tuesday, October 24 in Kennedy 315. This course is from 7:30 P.M. to 9:15 P.M.

All phases of these subjects will be covered in these extensive courses, which are cosponsored by Dayton Chapter, American Society for Metals. Call 229-2347 for further information.
