Mock Trial May Produce Future Lawyers

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls

Recommended Citation
https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls/4205

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marketing and Communications at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in News Releases by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlangen1@udayton.edu,
MOCK TRIAL MAY PRODUCE FUTURE LAWYERS

DAYTON, Ohio, March 19, 1982 -- The University of Dayton School of Law will host a junior high school "mock trial" session on March 25, 1982 from 8 a.m. until noon. The training session is designed to familiarize students with courtroom procedures.

The "mock trial" was organized by third year UD law student Alan Boyarsky as a part of his Law Related Education Course. Students from Ferguson Junior High School in Beavercreek will be visiting UD. They will act as attorneys, witnesses, and jurors in their "trial" session.

Beavercreek teacher, William Starrett says his students are excited about the "mock trial" session and are looking forward to coming to UD. "It will give them a chance to learn about our judicial system, and may encourage some future lawyers."

The UD Law Related Education Course is an elective course for second semester third year law students. It provides an opportunity for the law students to be a legal resource for public school students and teachers.

For more information, contact Daniel Lykins at 229-3215.

-30-