BEING CREATIVE EXPLORED AT THE UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON

DAYTON, Ohio, September 22, 1982 -- A two-day workshop titled, "Creativity 80s" will be conducted at the University of Dayton on October 22 and 23. The workshop will explore creativity, human potential, and new ways of thinking and problem solving.

Creativity 80s is designed for anyone interested in developing more creative ways in professional and personal life and for those who wish to increase their skills in generating quality alternative solutions.

Participants may select one of three workshops for each morning and afternoon session. Workshop sessions will cover such topics as "Creating Freedom in an Unfree World," "Creative Problem Solving," "Recognizing the Highly Creative Student," "Becoming a More Creative Educator: A Holistic Approach," "New Possibilities for Men," and others.

The workshop is presented by the University of Dayton, Wright State University, and the "Creativity 80s Committee," with the support of F. E. James Investment Research, Inc., C. H. Dean Investment Associates, and Jurz-Kasch, Inc. The Creativity 80s Committee is an outgrowth of the Shaping the 80s Conference which was held in October 1981.
