UD SPONSORS NATIONAL YOUTH SPORTS PROGRAM

DAYTON, Ohio, June 14, 1983 -- The University of Dayton will again sponsor the National Youth Sports Program (NYSP) this summer from June 27 until July 29. Over 400 economically disadvantaged youth, ages 10 to 16, will participate in sports and educational instruction. The program will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, on the UD campus.

Participants will receive a free medical exam, a daily USDA meal, instruction in a variety of sports, counseling in career opportunities, and the chance to use UD's athletic facilities. The University of Dayton, the Office of Community Service, and the National Collegiate Athletic Association are providing the funds for the program. The staff is made up of local students, coaches, and teachers.

Last year the National Youth Sports Program Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association awarded UD "a special commendation for the excellent NYSP conducted . . . as reported by program evaluators."
