DAYTON, Ohio, October 23, 1986---The University of Dayton and the Dayton Council on World Affairs will present a conference titled "China Today: Continuity and Change in the Push for Modernization" as part of UD's Far East Series. The conference will be held on Wednesday, November 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the NCR Sugarcamp Education Center.

Scheduled to speak are His Excellency Han Zu, ambassador from the People's Republic of China, and Michel C. Oksenberg, of the University of Michigan. Panel presentations will be given by Robert Dernberger, University of Michigan; Merle D. Goldman, Harvard University and Boston University; and Roger Sullivan, National Council for U.D.-China Trade. A panel exchange, with questions and answers, will follow.

Key topics to be discussed are China's drive for modernization, specifically economic, intellectual and cultural change; modernization and China's foreign relations; and continuity and change in Chinese policy.

Reservations for this conference must be made by October 31.

Other scheduled conferences include "Update on the Philippines: Challenges Facing Mrs. Aquino" on November 20; "Korea: Economic Growth Amid Political Insecurity" on December 3; and "Japan: Dimensions of a Changing International Role," in 1987 (date to be announced).

All programs are open to the public. Call the University of Dayton's Center for International Studies at 229-2319 or 229-3514 for fee information and registration.
