DAYTON, Ohio, January 23, 1987--The University of Dayton Board of Trustees has approved price adjustments for the 1987-88 school year, which begins in August.

The average total University costs for a full-time, undergraduate, resident student will increase by 8.7 percent, from $8,594 (two semesters) to $9,340. These include increases in full-time tuition charges from $5,450 (two semesters) to $5,980; University fee charges from $290 to $310; seven-day meal tickets from $1,454 to $1,570; and residence hall charges from $1,400 to $1,480.

The increases, according to Brother Bernard Ploeger, S.M., vice president for administration, are based upon budget assumptions which include increases in salary and benefit expenses, inflationary pressures, and a 15 percent increase in student financial aid. Inflation is projected to range around 4.5 percent.

"The increase in student-aid programs, and the continuing effort to improve faculty and staff salaries reflect the University's continuing commitment to retain an outstanding faculty and staff as well as to make the school even more accessible for students in need of financial assistance," said Ploeger. "UD's sound financial standing will also make it possible in 1987 for students to look forward to major improvements in food service and housing. A new dorm and dining facility will be completed by fall as will major renovations to Kennedy Union's dining facility."
