OHIO CHIEF JUSTICE TO ADDRESS
SCHOOL OF LAW GRADUATES

DAYTON, Ohio, May 7, 1987—Thomas J. Moyer, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio, will give the commencement address for the University of Dayton School of Law on Sunday, May 17.

The School of Law will award 105 Juris Doctorate (J.D.) degrees during the ceremony, which begins at 2 p.m. at the University of Dayton Arena. The graduating class consists of 35 women and 70 men who hold undergraduate degrees from 60 different colleges and universities.

Moyer, who will discuss American Constitutionalism in his address, was elected to office in November 1986. He previously served as judge of the 10th District Court of Appeals, where he was presiding judge during his final year.

From 1975 to 1979, Moyer held the position of executive assistant to Governor James A. Rhodes. His career also includes three years in private practice, and after his graduation from law school, he was for two years an assistant attorney general.

Moyer received his bachelor of arts in political science and his J.D. from Ohio State University, where he has also been a member of the Ohio State University College of Law National Council Advisory Committee.

Graduation weekend activities include a Mass in UD's Immaculate Conception Chapel Saturday, May 16, at 4:30 p.m. A reception for graduates and their families will follow the commencement exercises on Sunday.
