News Release

'A TASTE OF UD' WILL OFFER TREATS FROM AREA RESTAURANTS

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 28, 1988--How can you sample the offerings of ten or so restaurants without driving all around town?

By attending "A Taste of UD."

The University of Dayton's Student Government Association (SGA) is sponsoring the event, to be held for the first time this year. "A Taste of UD" will be held from 7 p.m. to midnight on Friday, Nov. 4 in the UD Fieldhouse. Admission is free and open to the public.

Confirmed participants include Milano's, The Shed, Yogi and Sal's and Kennedy Union food service. In addition to other restaurants that are expected to participate, six different kinds of ethnic food will be offered by cultural organizations on campus. "A Taste of UD" will kick off Multi-Cultural Affairs Week activities on campus.

"The Fieldhouse will be decorated like a park," said SGA president Jeff Pfeiffer. "We'll have lamp posts and a gazebo so people can have a picnic-like atmosphere while they sample the food." Pfeiffer said cost of the samples will be decided by each restaurant. Beer and soft drinks will be available.

Music from the '50s and '60s will be provided by "Greasy Chuck and the Hightops," a band from Columbus.
