UD Presents Seminar on Date/Acquaintance Rape Prevention

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls

Recommended Citation
"UD Presents Seminar on Date/Acquaintance Rape Prevention" (1989). News Releases. 5163.
https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls/5163

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marketing and Communications at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in News Releases by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlangen1@udayton.edu.
UD PRESENTS SEMINAR ON DATE/ACQUAINTANCE RAPE PREVENTION

DAYTON, Ohio, January 19, 1989--The University of Dayton Continuing Education Department will sponsor a seminar on Acquaintance/Date Rape Prevention on Thursday, Feb. 2. The seminar, which will be conducted via satellite, is open to the public. Topics will include the prevalence of date and acquaintance rape, the nature of sexual aggression and legal issues.

Kate Hardman, organizer of the seminar, believes that the issue is a relevant one. "The general population is not aware of what a problem this is, not only with adults, but with teenagers as young as 13 years old," said Hardman. "The best treatment for it right now is prevention."

Presenters will include Barry Burkhart, professor of psychology at Auburn University and Claire Walsh, director of the University of Florida's Sexual Assault Recovery Service. Burkhart has conducted research on sexual aggression, the psychological processes in offenders and effects on victims. Walsh will focus on the effect of sexual victimization. Participants at UD will be able to communicate with the presenters via satellite by way of telephone connections.

The cost for the seminar, which lasts from 1:45 to 5 p.m., is $20.
UD students receive a reduced rate of $5. To register or for more information, call (513) 229-2347.

-30-
"Foreign Investment and the Restructuring of American Industry" by Robert Lawrence of the Brookings Institution; "Japanese Methods and American Competitiveness" by William O. Ward of Susquehanna University; and "Has the U.S. Lost its Technological Advantage?" by John G. Fenic, president and general manager of Chemineer, Inc. Also on Saturday a panel of experts will discuss "Will American Competitiveness Be Restored? A Look Ahead." Participation in the sessions on Saturday is by invitation.

For further information on the second annual Scholars Symposium, contact the UD School of Business Administration at (513) 229-3731.

-30-

NOTE TO EDITORS: For advance interviews, Walter Williams can be reached at his office at (703) 323-2631. All sessions of the symposium are open to the media. Sessions on Saturday will be held in the Kennedy Union on campus, from 8:30 a.m. to approximately 2:30 p.m.