Registration Still Available for UD One-Day Manufacturing Workshop

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls

Recommended Citation
https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls/5192
REGISTRATION STILL AVAILABLE FOR UD ONE-DAY MANUFACTURING WORKSHOP

DAYTON, Ohio, February 9, 1989--Registrations are still being accepted for the one-day seminar on "Managing Change: The Theory of Constraints Workshop" sponsored by the University of Dayton. The session will be held Wednesday, Feb. 22 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Dayton Convention and Exhibition Center.

Eliyahu M. Goldratt, author of "The Goal," and Donn J. Novotny, co-owner of the Avraham Y. Goldratt Institute, will lead the workshop. Topics will include needs facing all organizations, pyramid problems, measurements and their impact on local decisions, and development of the theory of constraints. The session will highlight examples of the theory of constraints in many aspects of an organization and will feature discussions of how changes can be implemented with the least amount of resistance.

"Managing Change" is part of the University of Dayton's "Competitive Manufacturing: The Excellence Series." A two-day workshop on "Executive Decision Making" has already been filled.

Cost of the "Managing Change" workshop is $275 per person and registrations are due by Friday, Feb. 17. The series is sponsored by the UD School of Engineering, Special Programs and Continuing Education. For further information or to register, contact Teresa Bohlander at (513) 229-4632.

-30-