ENGINEERING OPEN HOUSE
HELD AT UD

DAYTON, Ohio, February 16, 1982 -- In conjunction with National Engineers Week, the University of Dayton School of Engineering will hold an open house on February 27, from 12:30 until 4:30 p.m. in the Kettering Engineering and Research Laboratories. The open house is designed for those interested in engineering or engineering technology as a career, as well as parents and counselors.

The program includes engineering student displays and industry displays; presentations by the deans of engineering and engineering technology; tours of engineering laboratories and the campus. Representatives from all engineering and engineering technology departments, Cooperative Education, Admissions, Financial Aid, Engineering Special Programs, the University Honors Program, and several engineering student organizations will be available in Kettering Laboratories 281.

Registration and the hospitality room are also located in Kettering Laboratories 281. Admission is free. For more information, call the UD School of Engineering at 229-2736.
