UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON NAMES FIVE NEW TRUSTEES

DAYTON, Ohio — The University of Dayton has named five new members to the board of trustees. They include a local business executive, a college president, a Chicago marketing executive, a Houston-based consultant and the treasurer for the Cincinnati province of the Society of Mary.

Starting three-year terms:

• Richard P. Davis, senior consultant for John Nuveen & Co., is the founder and former president of Flagship Financial Inc., an investment firm in public mutual funds and specialized fixed-income accounts. Flagship and John Nuveen & Co. merged. Davis holds a bachelor’s degree in finance from UD, where he is on the business advisory council. He earned a master’s degree in economics and an MBA in finance from Wright State University.

• Sister Jean Patrice Harrington, S.C., is the interim president of Cincinnati State Technical and Community College. For 10 years, she presided as president at the College of Mount St. Joseph, where she is credited with turning the financially troubled college around. She holds a bachelor’s degree in mathematics from the College of St. Joseph, a master’s degree in education from Creighton University and a doctorate in higher education from the University of Colorado.

• Dennis Marx, president of UD’s National Alumni Association, is director of marketing/shareholder of JMG Financial Group Ltd. in Oak Brook, Ill. He earned a bachelor’s degree in accounting from UD, an MBA in finance from Loyola University Chicago and completed the Harvard Business School’s Program for Management Development.

• Garry McGuire is a Houston-based consultant working with the venture capital firm of Kleiner, Perkins, Caufield & Byers in Menlo Park, Calif. Formerly, he was the president and chief operating officer of Williams Communications Solutions and the president of Nortel Communications Systems. He holds a bachelor’s degree in economics from the University of Dayton. He is also a graduate of the Wharton School of Business’ Strategic Planning Executive Education Program.

• Brother Robert J. Metzger, S.M., is the assistant for temporalities and provincial treasurer for the Cincinnati province of the Society of Mary (the Marianists). He holds a bachelor’s degree in business administration from St. Mary’s University and is a certified public accountant.

Stepping off the board after completing their terms are Margaret Cavanaugh, Jane Haley, Jack Schaefer and William Weprin.
