1-31-2017

Colleges That Pay You Back

University of Dayton

Follow this and additional works at: https://ecommons.udayton.edu/news_rls

Recommended Citation

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marketing and Communications at eCommons. It has been accepted for inclusion in News Releases by an authorized administrator of eCommons. For more information, please contact frice1@udayton.edu, mschlangen1@udayton.edu.
The Princeton Review named the University of Dayton among the top “Colleges That Pay You Back” in a new book that examines academics, affordability and graduates’ career prospects.

The 2017 edition of Colleges That Pay You Back: The 200 Schools That Give You the Best Bang for Your Tuition Buck highlights the University's cost transparency, student life and career services. It also ranks the University as 14th in the nation for internship opportunities.

The book's editors note the University's net-price tuition plan eliminates fees and pledges to students their scholarships and grants will grow dollar-for-dollar each year as tuition increases. The editors include information on graduates' starting salaries, which average $50,600 according to PayScale.com. They also feature the University's Flyer First Destination Survey, which recently found 96 percent of graduates were employed or enrolled in graduate school or a service program within six months of graduation.

The Princeton Review examined data from hundreds of schools nationwide for the publication. Editors developed a “return on investment” rating based on data including graduation rates, student debt, financial aid and alumni salaries and job satisfaction.

“We highly recommend the University of Dayton, and all of our Colleges That Pay You Back schools. They stand out not only for their outstanding academics but also for their affordability via comparatively low sticker prices and/or generous financial aid to students with need — or both," said Robert Franek, The Princeton Review's senior vice president/publisher and lead author of the book. "Students at these colleges also have access to extraordinary career services programs from their freshman year on, plus a lifetime of alumni connections and post-grad support."
More information is available on The Princeton Review's website at princetonreview.com/colleges-pay-you-back.

For more information, contact Meagan Pant, assistant director of media relations, at 937-229-3256 or mpant1@udayton.edu.

LATEST NEWS

Briefly Speaking

I Love UD, impact of executive orders, immigration and race in America, law school admission test Workshop, career fair, engineering week, Catholic art, and professional development among upcoming events

Mary's Garden

The University of Dayton library will house more than books this spring. For the first time, it will feature a living indoor garden filled with some of the hundreds of flowers and plants named in medieval times as symbols for the Virgin Mary.

Budding Creativity

The University of Dayton and Antioch Writers' Workshop are partnering to serve the Dayton-area creative writing community through educational programming, mentorship, networking and professional development opportunities.